When I practice my sport,
it's as if I rehearse a song.
Like a musician learning
a new verse.
My feet find rhythm,
my arms float
like a musical note.
Every high, every low,
every strike, every blow.
I play my sport like a melody.
Why?
Not for the win,
but for the victory song.
For when the day comes,
and my nation rises
to sing its song,
my soul and my body
will sing along.

Nine-judge SC bench lifts mineral tax bar on states

Rules 8:1 royalty is not tax; Nagarathna writes dissenting verdict

SETTLING 25-YR-OLD DISPUTE

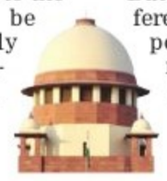
- The case began in the Patna High Court in 1999. It was referred to the nine-judge bench in 2011 for adjudication
- Majority verdict said royalty isn't tax
- Legislative power to tax minerals vests with state
- Parliament can impose any limitations on taxing mineral rights by states
- The yield of mineral-bearing land, in terms of royalty, can be used as a measure for tax

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@New Delhi

IN a significant ruling, a nine-judge bench of the Supreme Court on Thursday held that states have the legislative power to levy tax on minerals.

The majority 8:1 judgment authored by Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud said payments of royalty is different from tax.

It struck down a seven-judge ruling in the India Cements case in 1989, which said royalty is tax. "Payments made to the government cannot be deemed to be a tax merely because a statute provides for its recovery in arrears," the majority verdict said.



Those who concurred with the CJI were justices Hrishikesh Roy, Abhay S Oka, J B Pardiwala, Manoj Misra, Ujjal Bhuyan, Satish Chandra C Sharma and A G Masih.

The dissenting verdict came from Justice B V Nagarathna. "I hold royalty is in nature of tax. States have no legislative competence to impose any tax or fee on mineral rights. Entry 49 is not related to mineral-bearing lands. I hold India Cements decision was correctly decided," she said.

But the majority verdict differed. It said the legislative power to tax mineral rights lies with the state legislature and Parliament does not have the legislative competence to tax mineral rights.

However, it said, Parliament can determine how to limit the taxing power of the states over mineral rights to ensure that it does not impede or retard mineral development. "If Parliament does so and indicates the nature of the limitations, the states are bound to abide by them while exercising the taxing power over mineral rights."

Whether the majority verdict will operate retrospectively, which would mean a windfall in tax arrears for the states, or prospectively will be considered on July 31.

The bench had on March 14 reserved its verdict on the question of interpreting royalty and tax under the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957.

BUDGET DEBATE

Ugly scenes in LS as Channi, Bittu spar

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha witnessed ugly scenes on Thursday after Congress MP Charanjit Singh Channi and Union minister Ravneet Singh Bittu crossed swords during the discussion on the Budget. The treasury and opposition benches came close to blows, prompting the Speaker to adjourn the House for half an hour.

During the debate, Channi said there is an undeclared emergency and accused the government of curbing the freedom of speech of Khadoor Sahib MP Amritpal Singh, who is lodged in jail. "A man who was elected as an MP by 20 lakh people in Punjab is behind bars under the NSA. He is unable to present the views of the people of his constituency, here," Channi said.

Congress MP Charanjit Singh Channi speaks in the Lok Sabha on Thursday | PTI

When his former party colleague Bittu tried to interrupt him, Channi lost his cool and referred to the assassination of Bittu's grandfather, former Punjab CM Beant Singh. "Your late grandfather was a martyr but he actually died the day you joined BJP," Channi said.

Bittu then made some personal remarks against Channi and Congress leader Sonia Gandhi, inviting strong reaction from Congress members.

An infuriated Bittu tried to head towards the opposition benches while several Congress MPs rushed to the treasury benches. Union minister Rajnath Singh intervened to placate Bittu.

Outside Parliament, Channi's remarks snowballed into a political row with the BJP demanding explanation from the Congress on its MP's open support for a separatist leader. In response, senior Congress leader Jairam Ramesh said the party doesn't support or endorse such views.

CRYPTO SCAM

Ex-CCB cop took seized bitcoins worth ₹850 crore

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE Bitcoin scam has a shocking revelation. Police Inspector Prashanth Babu DM, who was the head of Technical Support Centre (TSC) of the Central Crime Branch (CCB) at Adugodi in November 2020, had allegedly transferred 4,000 bitcoins worth Rs 850 crore seized from the prime accused in the scam, Sriki aka Srikrishna, to his personal computer without the court's permission. Babu had allegedly transferred the contents of two Apple MacBooks, which were sealed after seizing them from Sriki. These contained 4,000 bitcoins.

It has also been revealed that after transferring the contents to his personal computer, and on learning that the case was registered by the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) in 2023, Babu had wiped off all the contents from his personal computer. These were used to download the data from the seized gadgets, including the software for decoding, the CID stated in its objections before the High Court of Karnataka in response to Babu's anticipatory bail petition.

Paris set to paint its Olympic masterpiece

THEY looked strange, almost surreal. The architecture of the Gothic structures that rose on either side of the Seine, stare at you teasingly, reminding you of the past and fusing in the present.

One of Europe's most famous waterways, the Seine has seen a lot. It was mute witness when the Romans conquered Lutetia, a swampy little fishing village; it was looking on when modern Paris rose a few centuries later. It has seen revolts, reformations, revolutions and romance. And now, history will once again be made on its banks as Paris leads another revolution of liberty, equality, peace. This time though, the river will do a lot more than just witness it.

The Seine will host the Opening Ceremony of the Paris 2024 Olympic Games — the first-ever ceremony outside the stadium. For the first time in 100 years, the river is swimmable and Paris mayor Anne Hidalgo demonstrated it by taking the plunge few days ago. The ceremony will begin at 7.30 pm local time and will last over 3.5 hours. The show begins at Austerlitz, close to the Roman site of Lutetia some 3 km downstream from the imposing Notre Dame. Almost 3 km upstream is where it is going to culminate, the symbol of modern architectural marvels Eiffel Towers and Grand Palais. P17

Karnataka Houses pass resolution against NEET

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER Tamil Nadu and West Bengal, Karnataka became the third state to pass a resolution against the National Entrance-cum-Eligibility Test (NEET) for admissions in medical colleges held by National Testing Agency (NTA), a central agency.

In the resolution passed on Thursday, the Siddaramaiah government demanded that the Centre allow the state to follow the earlier system and allow admissions to medical colleges based on the CET conducted by the KEA. Medical Education Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil moved the resolution in the Legislative Assembly, while Deputy CM DK Shivakumar tabled it in the Council.

"The NEET system prevents poor students from taking up medical education, and deprives states of their rights to admit students in government medical colleges. Considering the repeated irregularities, the Union government should amend the National Medical Commission Act, 2019 (Central Act 30 of 2019), so that NEET is given up at the national level."

Soudhas yet to pay over ₹7cr service dues to BBMP

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH the State government cracking down on property tax defaulters, two prime buildings in the state capital are yet to pay service charge dues. It is here that ministers and officials sit and take all decisions, making the situation even more ironical.

The two seats of power -- Vidhana Soudha and Vikasa Soudha -- are yet to pay over Rs 7 crore as service charges for 15 years to Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP). Vidhana Soudha has dues of Rs 2.29 crore and Vikasa Soudha has to pay Rs 5.32 crore.

From 2008-09 to 2015-16, Vidhana Soudha had to pay Rs 11,10,876 annually, after which the amount was revised with penalty to Rs 13,88,595 from 2016-17 to 2020-21. It then increased to Rs 19,9,704 from 2021-22 to 2023-24.

In case of Vidhana Soudha, the government had to pay arrears of Rs 27,74,984 from 2008-09 to 2015-16, which later increased to Rs 34,68,730 till 2020-21, and then to Rs 34,96,480 from 2021-22 to 2023-24.

"The pending amount to be cleared by the government for Vikasa Soudha is Rs 5,00,32,962 and Rs 2,00,29,095 for Vidhana Soudha. Under special provisions, it was decided to exempt all government (central and state) buildings from payment of property tax. But they have to pay service charges. When all government offices are paying up, we cannot make exemptions for any government agency. The last date is July 31, after which stern action will be taken," said a senior BBMP official, not wanting to be named.

The official added that BBMP has sent multiple reminder notices to the government, but the dues were not cleared. On February 29, 2024, the Department of Personnel Administration and Reforms wrote to BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, seeking one-time exemption. "We replied that it cannot be given. Payments need to be made as government and BBMP need money," the official said.

ROUGH RIDE

Despite DyCM's claim, city roads in a shambles: Residents

RISHITA KHANNA
@Bengaluru

WHILE Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar claimed that 96 per cent of potholes on Bengaluru's streets have been filled, residents countered that "in reality, more than 96 per cent of the roads still need repairs".

Recently, the DyCM had stated that the BBMP worked on road repairs from April to June and continued to address pending issues. Cold asphalt mix units have also been set up to fix the roads. Locals, however, argued that the roads were already in poor condition before the monsoon started, and that the rainy season is not ideal for carrying out such repairs.

Given that Bengaluru experienced nearly five months of dry weather until the end of May, locals said the civic body should have prepared the city's roads for the monsoon.

BBMP officials reported that potholes have been consistently filled using cold mix. An official added that patchwork has been carried out to keep the service roads in good condition, while efforts are being made to maintain both the main roads and the service roads. Locals said the ground reality is otherwise.

When TNIE reached out to residents in Jayamahal, Kengeri, Marathahalli, and Vasanth Nagar, they highlighted that potholes filled with water have become breeding grounds for mosquitoes, and no measures were being taken to address the issue.

Many complained that several roads seemed to have been neglected. They said that despite work orders being issued, asphalting was not carried out. Many added that despite complaints being filed through the Sahaya application, no action has been taken.

Madhuri, a school teacher residing in Kengeri, said despite filing complaints more than five times, nothing was done. "Every time we file an online complaint, we receive a complaint number, but then the window gets closed without action," she added.

Gopi Krishna, a software professional from Marathahalli, noted that in areas where the Metro rail construction is under way, potholes make commuting hazardous.

KEA to go ahead with seat allotment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) on Thursday announced that the seat allocation for all professional courses, including engineering, architecture and medicine, will be conducted simultaneously, despite the ongoing NEET issue. H Prasanna, Executive Director, KEA, through a release, advised that students and parents should not panic.

"Due to the delay in receiving NEET results from the National Medical Commission (NMC), KEA has decided to prioritise registrations for engineering and other courses. The last date for registration of option entry is on July 29," the release stated.

Register preferences

The executive director added that the authority is in communication with the NMC, with expectations that medical counselling dates will be announced within this week and subsequently, the state's seat allocation schedule will be released. "Candidates will be able to register their preferences for medical, dental, and other courses only after the announcement of NEET results," Prasanna explained.

Students who have passed the Second PUC Exam-3 are ineligible for the current seat allocation, however, the director emphasised that the instructions will be reviewed to provide equal opportunity to all candidates. Candidates can visit the KEA website for timely updates.

The mock seat allotment results will be published on August 1. Candidates will then have a three-day window to modify their preferences.

Greater B'luru bill on hold, sent to joint panel

BJP leaders object, say bill must be debated

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE much-debated Greater Bengaluru Governance Bill has been put on hold by the State government, and been referred to a Joint Select Committee.

The bill proposes Bengaluru to have up to 10 municipal corporations. The plan is to restructure the BBMP and transform it into a three-tier setup, with the Chief Minister at the top. Municipal corporations and ward committees will form the other two layers, which will be accountable for improving administration.

While BJP members in the assembly were in the well, staging a protest and demanding that they be allowed to speak on the MUDA scam under adjournment motion, Deputy CM and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar placed the bill. He said they proposed to give a new image to Bengaluru that has a population of over 1.4 crore.

"There is a need to improve administration. Bengaluru is watched internationally. We need to strengthen the city financially too," he said, adding that there is a need to bring the bill.

However, BJP members objected, with Leader of Opposition R Ashoka demanding that a Joint Select Committee be set up to study the bill and submit a report, so it can be decided on later.

Yeshwantpur MLA ST Somashekar said the bill needs to be widely debated and discussed. "The Joint Select Committee should have MLAs from Bengaluru," he said.

Answering them, Shivakumar said that outside the House, many MLAs from Bengaluru including Suresh Kumar, Satish Reddy and CK Ramamurthy had met him to discuss the issue. "This needs to be discussed widely. We are not in hurry to pass it. We will refer it to a Joint Select Committee," he said, putting the bill on hold.

Kargil veteran, now pursues passion for teaching

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

BORN on Air Force Day, Wing Commander PB Shetty joined the Indian Air Force (IAF) in February 1983 and served for over 20 years.

During his tenure in the IAF, he was involved in the Kargil mission for nearly four months. He was part of numerous projects related to aircraft structures, aero engines, and remotely piloted vehicles.

Years later after his retirement, Wg Cdr Shetty is now pursuing his passion for teaching, inspiring thousands of students as a professor.

He served as a maintenance engineer for fighter aircraft such as the Hunter, Mig-21, Mig-23, and Mig-27, and contributed significantly to the Remotely Piloted Vehicle Lakshya.

Sharing his experience with the IAF, Wg Cdr Shetty told TNIE that while on a vacation with his family in Bengaluru in 1999, he received a call from his Commanding Officer to rush to the Air Force Station at Kalaikunda in West Bengal within 12 hours.

From Kalaikunda, he and his team members were swiftly moved to the Air Force Station at Ambala in Haryana near the western border. Operating from Ambala Air Base, he was actively involved in the Kargil mission. His tasks included deploying 30mm ADEN guns, launching 68mm rocket projectiles, and releasing 1000-pound bombs using the Hunter aircraft for reconnaissance and target identification.

The deployment of Mirage fighter jets with laser bombs eventually phased out the use of Hunter aircraft in the Kargil operation. The memories of the Kargil conflict, the sacrifices made, and the relentless pursuit of victory still remain deeply etched in his mind.

He did BE (Mechanical Engineering) at the National Institute of Engineering, Mysuru, ME in Osmania University, Hyderabad, and a second ME in the Defence Institute of Advanced Studies, Pune. He earned his PhD from VTU in 2008.

A Fellow of the Institution of Engineers and a lifetime member of the Indian Society of Technical Education, Wg Cdr Shetty joined the Department of Mechanical Engineering at Nitte Meenakshi Institute of Technology (NMIT) as a professor in 2003.

He played a pivotal role in installing the HPT-32 fighter aircraft and Mig-21 R-11 jet engine at NMIT, making it the only college in Karnataka to receive such equipment from the IAF.

He holds BTech classes at the Air Force Technical College. As the head of the Mechanical Engineering Department for 12 years, Wg Cdr Shetty introduced MTech programmes in Thermal and Design.

UK-India partnership will drive growth, create jobs

He added that the joint work on the climate crisis will be accelerated to ensure a safe future for "Brits and Indians".

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

26th July: Venus, planet of love, is now in a very careful zone. No matter what our individual horoscopes, we have entered a period in which all emotional relationships should be handled with great attention to detail. Old-fashioned entertainment and conservative values will be in vogue, while revolutionary attitudes are out!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Take special note of interesting news that comes to light in an indirect way, or as a result of your past creative efforts. My advice to you now is to act in accord with your passionate Arien qualities, free from all those social and family pressures that so often hold you back.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You now seem to be in a position to drive a hard bargain and break any deadlocks that have marred family and domestic partnerships. Clear up such issues this week rather than next. As a matter of interest, relationships with children and younger family members benefit most.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You now know what troubles partners and close friends, but must also understand just how much you can do to help them. This is a moment when you must put yourself out for others. In point of fact, one delicate planetary alignment says that this is a fine day for self-sacrifice!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The planetary aspects which now confront your sign combine in fluences which are profound and long-term with those which are extraordinary and elect-rifying in a day-to-day sense. You are therefore about to turn the corner in one major personal involvement.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Perhaps you should now consider casting your net much wider than in the past and look at those tasks which allow you to move on with a minimum of fuss. Flexibility is required at work: if you go with the flow and bend with the wind, you will win the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may be more interested in making new friends than in pursuing close and intimate partnerships. The reason is that you may have more pleasure if you leave yourself open to unusual invitations. That may mean that you have to put aside some of your normal caution!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
All the important discussions, arguments and events which have implied the existence of some sort of order in your professional and home affairs may now be revealed as little more than harmless window-dressing. The real fun is about to begin.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The fact that you have two planetary rulers - Mars and Pluto - means that your psychological and emotional cycles are more complex than the norm. This is why you are soon to be pulled between two options, one direct and straightforward, the other, tangled and devious.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
If you have your wits about you this week you ought to be able to finalise a series of personal arrangements and engagements. You have another two weeks to make sure that everything is clearly understood by both sides. You may have to bang their heads together at certain points!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Why do partners appear to have such an easy time of it, while you are beset by problems of increasing complexity? Actually the answer is probably that your life is more dynamic and interesting than theirs, and you are therefore faced with a greater range of options.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
For longer than you care to admit you have been avoiding deep emotional contact in a particular relationship. This may be the real, underlying reason why a partner is about to issue you with a challenge and ask you to come clean. Perhaps, though, you were right to protect your feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You certainly do not seem to be at a particular disadvantage, so I cannot see any reason in your solar chart why you should not press ahead with family arrangements or home improvements. And neither can I see any reason why you shouldn't make a rather profitable investment!

'NO HOME FOOD FOR DARSHAN, CMO DOESN'T SUGGEST SPL DIET'

Rule 728 prohibits prisoners facing murder charges from privileges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a setback to actor Darshan, who is currently at the Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara, in connection with the murder of Renukaswamy since June 22, a magistrate court in the city rejected his application seeking directions to the prison authorities to allow him to get home cooked food rich in protein, to maintain his physique, since he is facing digestive issues with prison food.

"This court is justified to hold that, prima facie, at this stage of proceedings, the Chief Medical Officer (CMO)'s report does not warrant court's interference with respect to the food being provided to the accused.

That apart, this court is also of the view that the accused No 2, Darshan, is not entitled to the relief sought for, in the application pursuant to Rule 728 of the Karnataka Prisons and Correctional Services Manual, 2021 as he is facing the allegations of murder," said Vishwanath C Gowdar, Judge of 24th Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, on Thursday.

Rule 728 prohibits under-trial prisoners facing allegations of murder from asking for their own clothing, bedding, eating and drinking vessels from the prison authorities, the court noted, and added that there are no recommendations for a special diet in the prison CMO's report, dated July 22. The report only points out that Darshan was advised for continued medication under supervision.

Referring to the representation submitted by Darshan on July 10 and 11 to the jail authorities, CMO, and the court for home-cooked food, the court said that there was no allegation or complaint that the food or other basic facilities provided to him in prison were substandard. The court also pointed out that the claim of the accused that he is having repeated stomach related issues, is not forthcoming, and the CMO's report neither contains advice nor recommendation to provide a protein diet.

The CMO's report said that Darshan has been treated for severe lower back pain radiating to the right leg, and pain in left and right forearms. The final impression of the CMO is that Darshan is under treatment for severe back pain and viral fever with general weakness and has been advised bed rest and nutritious diet.

Citing the CMO's report and the Prison Manual, the Special Public Prosecutor Prasanna Kumar P argued that Darshan cannot be given special treatment only on account of being an influential person or being a cine actor. He also expressed apprehension that the prison authorities are obligated to maintain safety and well-being of the prisoners.

'Babu wiped contents from computer'

IN the objections filed to Babu's bail application, special public prosecutor (SPP) Prasanna Kumar P said the statement of BS Gagan Jain, a private cyber expert, was recorded before the magistrate under Section 164 of CrPC on March 30, 2024, and indicated that the gadgets contained about 4000 bitcoins when Babu transferred them to his personal computer.

The price of one bitcoin in November 2020 was about $29,000 — approximately Rs 21.20 lakh. Thus, it is stated that the total value of bitcoins handled by Babu was about Rs 850 crores, Kumar stated.

The objections also revealed that Jain's statement was supported by the Cyber Forensic Analysis Report obtained from the Centre for Development of Advance Computing (C-DAC) on May 21, 2024, which had analysed the gadgets seized in the case. Report indicated that the contents of MacBooks seized from Sriki in 2020, were transferred to Babu's PC, who in connivance with other accused had installed a crypto hardware wallet, electrum wallet applications and data wiping applications.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

The CID stated in its objections that from the C-DAC report it was clear that Babu on learning about CID registering the crime in 2023, had wiped off all the contents in his personal computer which was used to download the data from the seized gadgets, including the software for decoding.

The statement of Jain made under Section 164 of CrPC cannot be brushed aside or ignored lightly, Justice MG Uma noted while hearing the objections to Babu's bail petition.

She noted that as per the C-DAC report, the text file was located in the wallet details folder containing the Bitcoins and was addressed in Babu's name. Besides, the user name for the application data was Babu's.

The data wiping tool was also found to have been installed and was being used for the deletion of files and folders from the computer. The wiping technique prevents forensic tools from recovering the deleted contents by the mechanism of overwriting the data with junk. The application data was said to be located under the user name of Babu, the judge noted.

Justice Uma said the report referred to 16 files in the category of deleted directory, the source of which finds the user name of Babu.

When prima facie materials are available to suggest meddling with the seized electronic devices, Babu being the head of TSC to whom the gadgets in sealed condition were entrusted, is liable to give a reasonable explanation. But he maintained that he is not aware of the handling of cryptocurrency investigation, black chain technology or various software applications, and had blindly relied on private cyber experts, which is hard to believe at this stage. He is required for interrogation by the SIT and hence not entitled for anticipatory bail, the judge said.

Interestingly, all this came about after Babu filed a complaint against Gagan Jain of Cyber Safe Company and Santhosh Kumar of GCID company with the Special Investigation Team in January 2024, accusing them of criminal breach of trust and cheating. Jain and Santhosh Kumar were the private technical experts aiding Babu. Following Babu's complaint, a crime was registered against the two on January 24, 2024, and Jain's statement was recorded before the magistrate, which came with the startling revelations.

'MLAs should ventilate grievances to govt, not courts'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OBSERVING that the popular government is the best judge for taking care of the needs and interests of the assembly constituencies, the Karnataka High Court dismissed a PIL filed by MLA Muniraju of Dasarahalli assembly constituency, seeking directions to the state government to release a sum of Rs 78 crore in respect of tendered public works in his constituency and also to ensure time-bound completion of the infrastructural projects sanctioned under the Chief Minister's New Bengaluru Planning Scheme to be undertaken out of the said fund.

"The kind and nature of the grievance sought to be raised is a subject matter not fit to be brought by way of PIL before the court. Sanctioning of the grant, the extent thereof, cancellation, modification, reduction or enhancement of the grant amount given to the assembly constituencies is the subject matter to lie entirely in the domain of the elected government. As to what grant is to be sanctioned for a particular assembly constituency or part of the area is a decision to be taken by the Executive on behalf of the government of the day. It is essentially a policy decision of the popular government," said the division bench of Chief Justice NV Anjaria and Justice KV Aravind while dismissing the petition.

The court also noted that the petitioner is an elected representative, an MLA. It is always open for him to flag such issues before the legislative house or before the government and its competent authorities. They are the right platform to raise and ventilate the grievance, not the courts.

Bengal man jumps from train coach in KSR, dies

BENGALURU: In a freak incident, a 40-year-old passenger on board the Wodeyar Express heading from Bengaluru to Mysuru, ended his life by jumping out of the coach and coming under its wheels when the train was about to depart on Thursday evening. The incident occurred along the tracks on Platform 8 of the KSR Bengaluru City Junction. According to the Government Railway Police, Sushanth Nishatath Varma, a native of West Bengal, is survived by his wife and daughter who reside in his hometown. He was employed at Mysuru as a supervisor in a private company. A cop said, "The victim, travelling in an unreserved coach, suddenly alighted through the other door of the train (the non-platform side) and quickly lay down under the train's wheels by lying across the track. He had placed his head on one rail. The train ran over the passenger, decapitating him instantly." The train was immediately stopped and the Railway Police were alerted. Another cop said, "We found an unreserved ticket in one of his pockets. There was no ID on him. His mobile was broken, but its SIM card was intact. After inserting it inside another phone, we called the numbers available on his phone and spoke to his family and a colleague. A relative said he would come down to collect the body on Friday." A RPF source said, "Prima facie it appears to be a suicide case only." ENS

Houses adjourned sine die, Oppn plans Mysuru chalo

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BOTH Houses of the Legislature were adjourned sine die on Thursday as Bharatiya Janata Party and Janata Dal(Secular) legislators continued their protest seeking a debate on the alleged irregularities in allotment of sites by the Mysuru Uruban Development Authority (MUDA).

The opposition parties later decided to organise a 10-day padayatra over the issue from Bengaluru to Mysuru from August 1.

Defending himself in the Council, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah reiterated that there were no irregularities in the allotment of 14 sites to his wife. He accused the BJP and JDS legislators of trying to tarnish his image by raising a "non-issue".

"The case should be handed over to the CBI for investigation and Siddararamaiah should not continue as CM," said R Ashoka, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly.

Both Houses witnessed pandemonium on Wednesday as BJP and JDS legislators also raised the alleged scam in the Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation (MVSTDC). With Enforcement Directorate (ED) officials arresting former tribal welfare minister B Nagendra and summoning chairperson of the corporation and MLA Basanagouda Daddal for questioning, the opposition parties stuck to their demand and insisted that Siddaramaiah, who also holds the Finance portfolio, resign immediately.

Although Siddaramaiah admitted that the scam had happened in the corporation, he defended himself and his government stating that officers of the corporation and the Union Bank of India (UBI) were responsible for the illegal transfer of money to various bank accounts.

"The UBI has filed an FIR against its officers with the CBI, which has also taken up investigation. The ED has also taken up the case suo motu for investigation," he said.

Siddaramaiah, however, stated that he has full confidence in the Special Investigating Team set up by his government to probe the scam.

Amid pandemonium in both Houses on Thursday, the government passed resolutions against the Union government's proposals for "One nation, one election", delimitation of Lok Sabha and Assembly constituencies (urging that it should be done as per the 1971 census) and scrapping NEET.

The Greater Bengaluru Governance Bill, 2024, which was supposed to be tabled in the Assembly, was referred to the House panel for a discussion on it.

AFTER OVERNIGHT DHARNA, OPPN KNOCKS AT GUV'S DOORS

A delegation of BJP and JDS legislators on Thursday met Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot and petitioned him to direct Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to resign over the alleged scam in the allotment of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) and the alleged multi-crore irregularity in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd.

Led by the Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka, state BJP president BY Vijayendra, and JDSLP leader B Suresh Babu, the delegation urged the Governor to entrust the investigation into the alleged scams to the Central Bureau of Investigation for a thorough probe.

The Congress State Government has been meddling with the probe by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) to safeguard the culprits in the alleged ST Corporation scam, the delegation informed the Governor. The case should be transferred to the CBI from the SIT with the government's consent, they appealed. "The family of the sitting CM themselves became the beneficiaries of illegal land transactions and obtained unlawful gaining of developed sites by MUDA. The scam is worth around Rs 4,000-Rs 5000 crore and he, being the head of the State Government, may not allow a fair probe into this land scam," the BJP-JDS delegation said.

"The CM was saying that the allotment of 14 sites to his wife happened during 2005-06, then why did he not declare this in his property declaration made in the 2013 election affidavit? If, according to him, there is no scam, then why has the CM asked for an inquiry by setting up a panel by a retired judge committee," Ashoka questioned.

"These scams are not being allowed to be discussed in the House. It is clear that the Speaker is also leaning towards the Congress. The Opposition party has the power to ask questions. But it was cut short, and the Ruling party ran away, fearing to give the documents," Ashoka added.

Ashoka alleged that Siddaramaiah has encroached on Dalit sites in MUDA and the ST Corporation scam is also related to Dalits. "Apart from this, Rs 25,000 crore has been transferred to other projects cheating the Dalits. The CM should resign, taking moral responsibility," he added.

Hounded by scams, CM off to Delhi next week

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah will fly to New Delhi on Tuesday (July 30) and meet the Congress high command — Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, Mallikarjun Kharge, KC Venugopal and other senior leaders — to brief them about the alleged Valmiki scam and MUDA irregularities which have rocked both Houses of legislature for the entire monsoon session of nine days.

These two issues have put the Congress on the backfoot. Worse, the BJP's plan to take out a padayatra to Mysuru in the next few days could further hit the Congress hard. It may be recalled that the state government has been on the defensive throughout the legislative session because of these scams and other issues.

CM Siddaramaiah is scheduled to offer 'Bagina' to river Cauvery at a location in Mandya on Monday, and will be accompanied by district minister --- and other ministers, before he leaves for Delhi.

Meanwhile, the Cabinet is expected to meet on Friday and take up essential issues after which the ministers are expected to discuss the Valmiki and MUDA issues informally, and the government's response to the issues. The Cabinet is perhaps the only place where the CM and ministers can meet without their personal staff and hangers-on, which ensures some degree of confidentiality.

While the legislature session was originally scheduled to go on till Friday, it was adjourned indefinitely on Thursday. Meanwhile, sources informed that since state BJP leaders who were seeking CM Siddaramaiah's resignation could not gather much against him, there is a suggestion that Karnataka MPs and BJP leaders in Delhi could take up the Valmiki and MUDA irregularities in New Delhi, and urge President Draupadi Murmu to take note. This could place pressure on Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to ensure he gives permission to prosecute Siddaramaiah.

It may be recalled that Union Minister Pralhad Joshi had former CM Basavaraj Bommai have made many statements on the Valmiki and MUDA issues in the past few days. In addition to Joshi, Bommai and former CM Jagadish Shettar are also MPs. They also have former CM and now Union minister HD Kumaraswamy for support.

MUDA sites allotted during BJP rule, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEFENDING that he had no role in the alleged illegal allotment of Mysore Urban Development Authority (MUDA) sites to his wife, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah alleged that the allotment took place in 2021 when BJP was in power in Karnataka.

The BJP and JDS members, who sat on an overnight dharna demanding a debate on the alleged irregularities, entered the well of the Council as soon as the proceedings commenced on Thursday. As they were firm that they would not return to their seats until Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti gave his ruling, CM Siddaramaiah attacked the Opposition, stating that they were creating an issue out of nothing with the sole intention of tarnishing his reputation. "The site was allotted in 2021. Who was in power then? It was the BJP. MUDA officials took a decision at their discretion and allotted the sites. We had just given an application seeking compensation but never asked that a site should be given in Vijayanagar or any specific area. MUDA has illegally allotted the sites," Siddaramaiah defended. Continuing, the CM alleged that the Opposition had taken the issue personally as they were jealous that there was not even a single blot on his political career spanning over 40 years.

Further, Siddaramaiah said that the adjournment motion cannot be allowed as only issues which have occurred recently can be taken up for a debate and the issue in question took place in 2021.

Giving his ruling, Chairman Horatti said that he had already rejected the adjournment motion once and had reconsidered the application to review his decision. "As there is no recent occurrence, the adjournment motion is rejected," he ruled, following which the Opposition legislators raised slogans against the State Government and demanded that the alleged MUDA scam be referred to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

'WILL RELEASE LIST OF MUDA SITES ILLEGALLY ALLOTTED'

DyCM DK Shivakumar said that the State Government would soon release a list of MUDA sites illegally allotted by the previous BJP government. He said they allowed discussions on the alleged ST Corporation scam and the BJP leaders raised many issues. "But the same BJP did not allow the CM to respond. But the CM exposed BJP's scams. The government has ordered inquiry into all those scams," he told reporters. The DyCM said BJP is raising a hue and cry about the MUDA sites allocation. The CM has ordered an investigation, let the Opposition provide any documentation they have, he said. "There is nothing wrong in allocation of sites to the CM as per rules. If any irregularity happened, it happened during the BJP rule," the DyCM said.

K'taka to urge Centre to amend Forest Act

EXPRRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government has decided to appeal to the Union Government to amend the Schedule Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers Act, 2006, and the rules made under it to treat other traditional forest dwellers equally with forest-dwelling Scheduled Tribe communities. Speaking in the Assembly on Thursday, Forest, Environment, and Ecology Minister Eshwar B Khandre said 9,136.27 acres belonging to dwellers, including farmers, was acquired to construct the Linganamakki Dam, but the land was not notified even though the families have been living in the vacated space for the last 50- 60 years.

"All the governments in the past have tried their best but have not succeeded. Now, the government has filed an interlocutory petition in the Supreme Court. The same is the case with the Forest Rights Act. In 2006, the Centre implemented the Act, and framed rules in 2008. But the rules have not been notified by the Ministry of Tribal Welfare. But is applicable to the Forest Department. Forest rights are being availed of by the STs living in forests and depending on forests for their livelihood before December 2005. However, the other forest dwellers, have to submit documents to prove that their three generations were staying in the forests to get the benefits under the Forest Rights Act. The Centre must amend the Acts...," he added.

BILL TO SAFEGUARD DOCS, MEDICAL STAFF PASSED

The Karnataka Medical Registration and Certain Other Law (Amendment) Bill, 2024, was passed in both Houses of the Legislature on Thursday. The bill proposes to safeguard those working in the field of medicine, including doctors. "The bill proposes to increase the punishment for those who humiliate or assault them," Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said. The bill aims at putting an end to doctors and other paramedics getting assaulted. He said that the bill proposes to increase the quantum of punishment and also punish those who vandalise or damage hospital properties. "Earlier, it was three years of imprisonment, and now the bill proposes up to seven years, and the penalty has also increased from Rs 25,000 up to Rs 2 lakh," he said. The bill also stresses taking action against those who click photographs or shoot videos of medical staff and upload the same on social media. "This will attract a penalty," Dinesh added.

Resolutions against delimitation, 'One Nation, One Election' passed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Congress State Government on Thursday passed resolutions in both Houses of the legislature against 'One Nation, One Election' and the impending delimitation exercise — to redraw Lok Sabha and Assembly constituencies and increase their numbers — based on the census to be conducted in 2026 or later.

CM Siddaramaiah tabled the resolution against 'One Nation, One Election' in the Council on Thursday and stated that India was the biggest democracy in the world and free and fair election process, as mentioned in the Constitution, is the soul of democracy. The concept of 'One Nation, One Election' will put democracy and federal system in danger, the resolution read. State Assemblies have different terms of office, and a uniform schedule for polls may undermine the autonomy of states as it shifts the focus on national issues, neglecting regional concerns, the resolution added.

In the Assembly, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil tabled the resolution. The Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said elections demand huge money and human resources while also impacting development works for months whenever there are elections. If elections are held simultaneously, it will save both time and finances, he argued. In both the Houses, the resolutions were passed amid the pandemonium as the Opposition had launched a protest demanding a debate on the MUDA row. Meanwhile, the Assembly passed the resolution opposing delimitation saying it is likely to be a disadvantage to southern states, including Karnataka. Reading out the resolution, Patil said delimitation should not be done based on the census to be conducted in 2026 or later. "The House demands that the Centre conduct delimitation and fix the number of constituencies per state based on the 1971 census," the resolution read. Patil said the resolution is to protect the people of South Indian states and ensure to get the right recognition in a democracy.

Ashoka said the resolution cannot be passed without discussion. "Call for a special session and let us discuss before passing it," Ashoka said. The resolution was passed in the Council too.

SCSP/TSP funds 'misused' for free student bus passes: Report

ENS @Bengaluru

WHILE opposition parties have put the Congress government on the mat for diverting Scheduled Caste Sub-Plan/Tribal Sub-Plan (SCSP/TSP) funds for guarantee schemes, a report by the Legislature Committee on Welfare of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes pointed out that the funds were being "misused" to provide free bus passes to students. The panel is headed by Malavalli Congress MLA PM Narendraswamy.

A report on utilisation of SCSP/TSP funds in social welfare, agriculture, labour and transport departments was tabled in the Assembly and Council on Thursday. The report stated the SCSP/TSP funds were being misused to give free bus passes to students of all categories which is against the SCSP/TSP Act, and recommended formulating programmes so that people belonging to SC/ST communities are benefited.

NO PROPOSALS, BUT FUNDS ROLLED OUT TO 2,836 TEMPLES

CAG report: K'taka endowment dept gave Rs 44.48 cr to govt, Rs 188cr to pvt temples

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Comptroller and Auditor-General (CAG) report on Public Sector Undertakings that was tabled on Thursday, pointed out that the Endowment department had released grants to 2,836 institutions between 2017-18 and 2021-22, for which there were no proposals. Out of 2,836 institutions, 2,264 are private temples, while 572 are government temples. The grant outlay for government temples was Rs 44.48 crore, while private temples were granted Rs 187.81 crore, without proposals.

On the contrary, during the same period, there were 134 proposals from institutions seeking grants, of which only 20 religious institutions got approval. "The practice of releasing grants without any proposals may lead to a situation where grants could be released without verification or institutional requirements, and without control over expenditure, while needy eligible institutions may be deprived of funds," it noted.

The CAG also noted that as per the government's prescribed guidelines, the maximum limit for government-owned temples is Rs 10 lakh, for private temples Rs 25 lakh and for mutts, a maximum of Rs 50 lakh. But as per the audit observation, up to Rs 3 crore was released and the excess grants amounted to Rs 39.79 crore. It also objected to 79 instances aggregating Rs 5.13 crore, where the same institutions were sanctioned grants from multiple schemes, including MLA funds, SCP/TSP, Rudrabhumi and other schemes.

The audit report also said that during inspection, they noticed there were disparities between estimates and actual work executed. The monitoring of schemes and work execution was not satisfactory. The Tasdik and Varshasana grants, which are statutory in nature, also lay undisbursed with tahsildars. It also said the department did not make any concerted effort to conduct surveys and ensure eviction of encroachments on properties.

Irregular allotment of BDA sites

The CAG also pointed out that irregular allotment of sites under the incentive scheme in BDA resulted in excess allocation of 12,000 sqft of developed land, and undue benefits to landowners to the tune of Rs 10.54 crore.

BDA's decision to advance the effective date of implementation of the amended incentive scheme rules without authority of law, along with allocation of sites resulted in excess allocation, the CAG report noted.

AP stares at over ₹1.4Lcr deficit, ₹9.7Lcr debt

KALYAN THOLETI @Vijayawada

ANDHRA Pradesh is staring at a severe financial crisis so much so that there is a staggering gap of Rs 1,46,909 crore between revenues from all sources and the total expenditure as on date. The State government will present a white paper on state finances in the Assembly on Friday, laying bare the critical fiscal situation.

It is learnt that as per the white paper, the State government's essential expenditure covering salaries and pensions, welfare pensions, debt servicing, Arogyasri, mid-day meal scheme, power subsidy and administrative expenses among others amount to Rs 2,50,825 crore while the total receipts comprising State's own revenues (Rs 90,270 crore), tax devolutions (Rs 49,365 crore), capital receipts including public debt, and central assistance to state plans comes to around Rs 2,39,140 crore. It means the state receipts fall short of Rs 11,685 crore to meet just essential expenditure. On the other hand, a whopping Rs 1,13,244 crore dues are outstanding to vendors and schemes and Rs 21,980 crore to employees.

Given this situation, well-placed sources informed TNIE that there is hardly any fiscal scope for implementation of new schemes in the financial year 2024-25.

Asked about the state's debt burden, the source explained that as of June 12 this year it is a little over Rs 9.7 lakh crore including government debt of Rs 4.38 lakh crore, and corporation debt of Rs 2.48 lakh crore. The debt was Rs 3.75 lakh crore at the end of March 2019.

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

According to the sources, the white paper will draw comparison between the YSRC stint in power between 2019-2024 and the TDP regime from 2014-2019. It seems the per capita income growth decreased from 12.9 per cent to 9.7 per cent in the last five years. During the same period, the per capita debt increased from Rs 74,790 to Rs 1,44,336 while inflation also shot up to 6.2 per cent from 4.5. Similarly, the capital expenditure dropped to 22.54 per cent from 59.

The situation is scary, the sources said, if one were to consider the fact that the State's own revenues will have to go only for salaries, pensions, and other employee related liabilities. In short, the State is depending on borrowings and grants to meet even committed expenditure. The ruling NDA government will come out all guns blazing in the Assembly against the YSRC for the precarious financial condition. The upshot of all this is that the State government is unlikely to be able to present a full-fledged budget at this juncture. Informed sources said in a departure from tradition, the government may defer it by a couple of months.

NEET SOLUTION IN FIXING THE SYSTEM, NOT SCRAPPING IT

THE National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET) paper leak and numerous other problems faced by students in the medical entrance exam conducted by the National Testing Agency (NTA) this year have given currency to the demand of going back to the pre-2016 system of entrance exams. Several state leaders have sought the scrapping of NEET and some have asked to be allowed to conduct their own medical entrance tests. There is no doubt that the NTA has failed to inspire confidence among millions of students who appear for the various exams it conducts. This is especially true for the 24 lakh students who appeared for the NEET-UG. The Supreme Court decided not to scrap this year's NEET-UG because of the "absence of material on record" to conclude that "there was a systemic breach". The top court's order is not an endorsement of the NTA's conduct. Far from it, the court rapped the agency on the knuckles by reversing its decision to award marks for two options in a physics question. Meanwhile, police investigations into alleged NEET-UG paper leaks have led to arrests in some states; the CBI is also looking into the possibility of a national network's involvement in the case.

The government and the NTA surely need to do more to ensure a foolproof exam system. The solution to the problems in conducting NEET, however, lies in fixing the present system, not in going back to the pre-2016 one in which the states conducted separate medical entrance tests. That system was beset with problems such as students having to appear in multiple exams for different states, varying test standards, and a lack of transparency. NEET was envisioned to create an equitable and accessible system that would provide a standardised test to select the brightest from across the country. States and the Centre now need to work together to improve the tests' integrity and transparency. Pulling in different directions will further dent the exams' credibility and the promise of meritocracy. The Union government has rightly decided to undertake a technological audit of the NTA to fix the glitches. The committee set up under K Radhakrishnan to reform the NTA's systems and procedures would do well to involve all stakeholders and keep an eye on global best practices.

SEVERAL STATES FEEL NEGLECTED BY BUDGET

IF the opposition parties at first labelled Nirmala Sitharaman's proposals as a "Bihar-Andhra budget", the finance minister's post-budget clarifications have not convinced them otherwise. She opened the purse for the flood-hit Bihar with an array of announcements for highways and bridges, a 2,400-MW power plant, new airports, industrial corridors and sports facilities. For Andhra, the finance minister promised to fulfil commitments made under the AP Reorganisation Act and announced funds for irrigation and other development work.

Some states, already complaining of inadequate fund allocations and the possibility of imminent financial crises, are opposing the unequal budgetary allotments for obvious reasons. The DMK has announced demonstrations in district headquarters across Tamil Nadu to condemn the central government's alleged "betrayal" of the state. It has seized on the budget as a political opportunity and is trying to popularise the hashtag #BJPBetraysTamilnadu. The demand for central funds for the Chennai Metro, denied for the past three years, is likely to intensify. The chief ministers of at least four states have announced they will boycott Saturday's NITI Aayog meeting to be chaired by the prime minister. Taking a step farther, M K Stalin warned Narendra Modi of "political isolation" if he continued to govern based on political likes and dislikes. Tamil leaders have noted that verses from the Kural, which the finance minister used to pepper her speeches with, were conspicuously missing from this year's presentation.

This budget has acknowledged for the first time in over a decade that India is facing an employment crisis—it has proposed three incentive schemes with the clear aim of generating jobs across states. In February, the Tamil Nadu government announced in its budget a payroll subsidy for the first three years for jobs with a salary above ₹1 lakh a month at the new global capability centres in the state. In addition, it announced a payroll subsidy for women, differently-abled and transgender employees for two years at new industrial units employing more than 500 individuals from the state. The focus on job creation is indeed a welcome one, whether from a state or the central government. But the Centre needs to look at a more equitable distribution of resources if it wants to alleviate the feeling of abandonment that several states are labouring under.

QUICK TAKE

REVERSING THE RESOURCE CURSE

THE resource curse underlines the paradox that regions rich in natural resources often lag in economic growth. So when a nine-judge bench of the Supreme Court overruled a 1989 order and said that states have the right to tax the minerals mined in their territory, it went some way in reversing the curse. Odisha, Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan and four other states account for 97 percent of the total value of minerals mined across India. Now they can claim a share of the riches at the adit. But given the implications on a range of industries and other laws, it would be prudent for governments to consult widely before making a move.

Yevgeny Primakov's idea of India, Russia and China playing a balancing role in the post-Cold War era was ahead of its time. But as recent moves show, it's worth revisiting now

TIME FOR PRIMAKOV'S TRIANGLE OF GLOBAL INFLUENCE?

M K BHADRAKUMAR

Former diplomat

SOURAV ROY

THERE are signs that the Russia-India-China platform is becoming 'kinetic' after a lapse of a few years. Prime Minister Narendra Modi's official visit to Moscow last month placed a great store in symbolism. The visit coincided with NATO'S summit in Washington, which most certainly called attention to the global character of the Russian-Indian relationship in the transformative regional environment in current history.

There were other signposts, too. Principally, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov's address at the 10th Primakov Readings forum in Moscow on June 26—hardly 10 days before Modi's visit—was of significance in this connection. The Primakov Readings forum is a prestigious event. Yevgeny Primakov has a unique place in the pantheon of Soviet heroes—he combined his remarkable versatility to play a crucial role in bridging the post-Soviet transition after the failure of Russia's search for habitation in a common European home.

Primakov's visionary mind came to the conclusion that a Russia-India-China (RIC) 'collegium' could be of pivotal importance in the emerging post-Cold War world order. Without doubt, Primakov was thinking ahead of his times. In all fairness, neither New Delhi, which was obsessed with its 'unipolar predicament' at that point and yearned to be a 'natural ally' of the US, nor Beijing, which was intrigued by the hypothetical G2 grouping made up of the US and China (being the two most important world economies), was prepared for such an epochal leap of faith.

The heart of the matter is that neither India nor China fully shared Primakov's revolutionary concept of multipolarity, which was borne out of Russia's disillusionment with the West. China was somewhat ahead of India in progressive thinking and probably could visualise the raison d'être in Primakov's forecast of the main global development trends for decades ahead. The 1997 Russian-Chinese document titled the Joint Declaration on a Multipolar World and the Establishment of a New International Order hinted at it. But India was a hopeless laggard, entrapped in the Washington Consensus.

Now, 25 years later, things have phenomenally changed. The Russian move in February 2022 to create new facts on the ground in Ukraine following the volcanic eruption of tensions with the West over NATO expansion, the emergence of new centres of power and development outside of the Western world, the pervasive desire to build international relations on broad and equal cooperation, the shift in focus from globalisation to regional cooperation—these have become dominant trends. Suffice to say, the time has come for Primakov's idea that the RIC triangle should become the symbol of the multipolar world and its core.

Lavrov said at the Primakov forum meeting, "About a year ago, we proposed creating an RIC trilateral format. Recently, we revisited the idea again. But so far, our Indian friends believe the border situation (vis-a-vis China) has to be fully resolved first. We understand. Anyway, both Beijing and New Delhi are showing a clear interest in preserving the trilateral cooperation format. I am sure that each of the three will benefit from working out shared approaches and taking aligned stances on key issues on the Eurasian and global agenda."

Of course, the West abhors any signs of RIC strengthening its solidarity and negotiating from a shared position. The US's disruptive attempt in the context of Modi's visit to Moscow is self-evident—to take advantage of the faultlines in India-China relations, to create insecurity in the Indian mind regarding Russia's intentions, and above all, to stymie the current momentum of Russian-Indian partnership, especially on the economic side.

Indeed, there are contradictions in the RIC format that the US will continue to exploit. The Quad is a typical example. Besides, neither China nor India is willing to question the globalisation foundations and mechanisms laid down by the Americans, or share Russia's obsessive drive to accelerate the de-dollarisation process. Russia has nothing to lose, since it has been shut out of the Western banking system, whereas India and China do not face any problem to rely on the use of the dollar. Equally, China and India are deeply involved in the Western system of globalisation in terms of their volume of financial, investment and trade agreements, supply chains and the technology transfer they provide.

Meanwhile, India faces an acute problem lately as the net FDI inflow into the country dropped 62.17 percent year-on-year to $10.58 billion in 2023-24, which is a 17-year-low, according to a report. Simply put, India is hopeful that Chinese investment can bring funds to India and promote the upgrading of Indian industries and the optimisation of its economic structure. Being India's leading trade partner, China has a significant role indeed in driving the Indian economy and creating high-quality manufacturing jobs, which is of course a sensitive political issue as well for the Modi government, as evident in the general elections. Interestingly, Chinese analysts have taken note of a recent shift in the Indian policy to attract more Chinese investment.

A commentary on Wednesday in the Chinese communist party newspaper Global Times concluded, "The establishment of political mutual trust is a long and complex process, but it can be facilitated by economic and trade cooperation. Through economic collaboration, India and China can foster understanding and trust based on mutual benefit, gradually resolving political differences and uncertainties. This partnership will benefit the economic growth of both nations and contribute to regional and global peace."

This is a positive signal. It is in Russia's interests to be a facilitator in the India-China relationship. The BRICS summit in Kazan in October under President Vladimir Putin's chairmanship may witness a meeting between Modi and Chinese President Xi Jinping. Possibly, Modi and Putin shared views in this regard during their informal talks in Moscow last month. The fact remains that Moscow regards the Greater Eurasian Partnership as the flagship project of its foreign policy. Foreign economic strategy and international identity are inherently linked in the Russian calculus.

KANNADIGA QUOTA BILL NEEDS TO BE RECONSIDERED

B S ARUN

Senior journalist based in Bengaluru

ALREADY facing a backlash from the opposition for alleged corruption and nepotism, the Congress government in Karnataka suffered a loss of face on July 17. Within a few hours of announcing a law to reserve private sector jobs for Kannadigas in the state, it encountered sharp protests from the industry and put the bill on hold. It was to be tabled in the assembly a week later.

Such was the ill-prepared cabinet proposal that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah had to change his social media post on the law three times during the course of a day. His first post said: "The cabinet meeting... approved a bill to make it mandatory to hire 100 percent Kannadigas for C and D grade posts in all private industries in the state. It is our government's wish that the Kannadigas should avoid being deprived of jobs in the land of Kannada... We are a pro-Kannada government. Our priority is to look after the welfare of Kannadigas."

He deleted the post and came up with a new one in the evening saying the government proposed to reserve 50 percent of the jobs in administrative and managerial posts in private companies and 75 percent in non-managerial posts. Yet another post later said the bill was under preparation and the next cabinet meeting would thoroughly discuss it. In other words, the controversial proposal—the Karnataka State Employment of Local Candidates in the Industries, Factories and Other Establishments Bill, 2024—has been put on hold.

What happens if a company fails or refuses to reserve jobs for Kannadigas? The bill provided for fines of ₹10,000-25,000 to be levied on non-compliant companies. Errant firms were proposed to be fined ₹100 every day until the employee count complied with the bill's provisions.

So who is a Kannadiga or a local candidate? The draft defines her as a person "born in the state of Karnataka and who is domiciled in the state for a period of 15 years and who is capable of speaking, reading and writing Kannada in a legible way and has passed a required test conducted by the nodal agency".

What if fitting local candidates are not available to fill the quota? In such cases, says the bill, 3 years' time would be given to the firm to work with the government and train local candidates. The bill added, "If a sufficient number of local candidates are not available, then an industry or factory or other establishments may apply for relaxation from the provisions of this act to the government, and after due enquiry, the government may pass appropriate orders and such orders passed by the government shall be final."

EXPRESS

The Siddaramaiah government's ill-prepared bill to reserve private sector jobs for locals would be difficult to implement, partly because of the enormous burden it would put on the state machinery to ensure compliance. It may even fail legal scrutiny

Immediately after the morning announcement by Siddaramaiah, the industry came out with guns blazing. Software body Nasscom, PhonePe CEO Sameer Nigam, Assocham and former Infosys board member Mohandas Pai were in the forefront of criticising the move, asking the government to withdraw it. A day later, IT biggie Infosys supported the state move. Nigam, who was the strongest critic and whose PhonePe is headquartered in Bengaluru, had called the proposal a "shame". He later tendered an apology to Kannadigas when a couple of organisations called for a boycott of the payment app.

Does the state government really have the wherewithal to implement the proposal? In all likelihood, the labour department would be the nodal agency to implement it. The department is already facing a serious staff crunch and ensuring the new law's compliance might be overwhelming. Currently, to oversee more than 30 labour schemes across the state, the department has just under 1,000 employees. Of the sanctioned staff strength of 888, about half the posts are said to be vacant. The department has only 218 labour inspectors for the entire state, 47 of them with jurisdiction in Bengaluru. At the senior level, there are only 22 deputy and assistant commissioners who are authorised to check the schemes' implementation. These 22 officers would be tasked to implement the Kannadiga job quota, too. Not only would the staff shortage lead to a skewed implementation of the scheme, but it may also lead to corruption.

The move could face legal hurdles, too. If the state government goes ahead and gets the legislature's assent, it would in all probability be questioned in the courts. Will it stand legal scrutiny? Similar schemes are in force in some form or another in Maharashtra, Gujarat and Andhra Pradesh. The current BJP government in Haryana enacted a law in 2020 that reserved 75 percent of private sector jobs for locals with a monthly salary of up to ₹30,000. The Faridabad Industries Association questioned it in the Punjab and Haryana High Court, which quashed it. The court said, "Private sector jobs are skill-based and employees should have the opportunity to apply for suitable positions nationwide." No state should discriminate against individuals based on the fact that they don't belong to that state, it ruled. In the light of this, one wonders about the future of the Karnataka proposal if it goes on to become a law.

With a large section of the industry, which would need to implement such a law with wide ramifications, it is imperative on part of the government to hold wider consultations with various stakeholders, including Kannada organisations, before taking the bill to the legislature.

Techie hazards

Ref: Stretching workdays would invite more trouble than reward (Jul 25). Currently, the heavy pay packages are the only things attracting millions of young people towards the IT sector. Workers face heavy stress with irregular working hours and the Damocles' sword of 'hire and fire' hanging over their heads. Longer hours will lead to health hazards.

Work-life balance

The editorial has rightly pointed out that work-life balance is being thrown out of the window. Already, IT companies are recruiting newcomers to pay less for heavy workloads. The 14-hour shift would not result in the outcome expected by its champions. Women IT workers would be the worst sufferers. There must be a balance between work and life, otherwise it will be killing the goose that lays golden eggs.

Begrudging budget

The unfortunate aspect in the responses to the budget is that there is not even a word of welcome for any feature by any INDI Alliance leader. Do they feel the budget is totally chaotic? Rahul Gandhi's chat with farm leaders shows how desperate they are to create problems for the NDA government.

Rijiju: Oppn is trying to stall House during Budget debate

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PARLIAMENTARY Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju on Thursday accused the Opposition leaders of resorting to politics and abusing Prime Minister Narendra Modi instead of participating in a constructive debate during the discussion on Budget in Parliament.

"The Opposition should not do this. Instead of speaking on the finer aspects of the Budget document, they are abusing the PM and creating disruptions," he alleged.

Speaking to reporters at his residence on Thursday morning, Rijiju further said that the manner in which some Opposition leaders have delivered their speeches amounts to insult to the House and lowers the dignity of the Budget session.

The minister said that people have given their mandate to Modi for a third term, but the Opposition leaders are insulting it. "The people have given the mandate to Prime Minister Modi for a third consecutive time. If anybody attempts to insult the mandate of the people, they would be certainly given a befitting reply by the people in the next elections," he said.

Rijiju's remarks came a day after the Opposition dubbed the Budget as "discriminatory" against the non-NDA-ruled states and accused the Prime Minister of running a "shaky and vulnerable" coalition government.

Union minister Kiren Rijiju speaks in the Lok Sabha on Thursday | PTI

The Opposition had also described the Budget as a 'kursi bachao' (save the chair) document. The Opposition leaders had on Wednesday alleged that the Budget was dedicated only to two states — Bihar and Andhra Pradesh, where the NDA's two allies, JDU and TDP, are in power.

Echoing the Prime Minister's speech on the first day of the parliamentary session, Rijiju said that the elections were over and now the focus should be to work towards a developed India (Viksit Bharat) through holding constructive discussions on the Union Budget on the floors of both the Houses of Parliament.

"But the Opposition leaders did not say anything on the Budget. They indulged in doing politics during the discussion on the Budget," Rijiju said.

The minister said floor leaders of political parties should direct their members not to create ruckus inside Parliament and have a serious debate on the Budget.

The government's decision to remove indexation benefit on sale of old property will result in huge inflow of black money in real estate and reduce investments in the sector, AAP Rajya Sabha member Raghav Chadha said on Thursday. Consultations on UCC on, Meghwal tells Lok Sabha

A year after the 22nd Law Commission invited suggestions from stakeholders on the proposed nationwide Uniform Civil Code (UCC), the Centre does not appear to have made any considerable progress on it.

Replying to a question raised by CPM MP John Brittas on whether the government intends to rely on the proposed new report of the Law Commission on drafting a Central UCC, Union Minister of Law and Justice Arjun Ram Meghwal said that the 22nd Law Commission has decided, through its notice issued in June last year, to solicit the views of the stakeholders on the Uniform Civil Code.

To a question about whether the government proposes to introduce a UCC, Meghwal said, "Article 44 of the Constitution provides that the State shall endeavour to secure for the citizens a Uniform Civil Code. In view of the importance of the subject matter, the Law Commission was tasked to examine issues related to it and make appropriate recommendations. Accordingly, the Law Commission uploaded a consultation paper titled 'Reforms of Family Law' on its website."

When asked if the Law Commission, in its previous report submitted on August 31, 2018, had categorically stated that a UCC is "neither necessary nor desirable," the ministry replied that the 21st Law Commission did not submit any report.

MoS demands housing for sportspersons in RS

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Rajya Sabha on Thursday witnessed a different kind of demand by Minister of State for Defence Sanjay Seth during zero hour. Seth demanded housing facility for the country's sportspersons.

"I urge the government to introduce a separate scheme for providing affordable housing to sportspersons, especially those from rural areas," he said.

Seth highlighted the housing challenges faced by rural athletes who relocate to cities for training. "I think while all facilities are being made available for our sportspersons, a major inconvenience they face is housing," he said.

He also appealed for a dedicated housing scheme on the lines of the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojna giving some weightage to sportspersons.

Seth also wished success for the 117 Indian athletes who will participate in the Paris Olympics. While welcoming the NDA government's sincere efforts since 2014 to boost sports infrastructure and training facilities, he said the allocation of over ₹3,400 crore in this year's budget for sports showed the government's genuine concern for them.

He said infrastructure like constructing stadiums and sports complexes in every district would be an added boost to the performance of sportspersons.

In another demand during the Zero Hour, RJD MP AD Sinha demanding hiking MSP for the farmers cultivating makhana (fox nut) in Bihar.

Sinha said Bihar accounts for about 90% of India's total makhana production and produced nearly 10,000 tonnes of it annually. "Despite the demand of makhana going up, farmers are not getting fair prices. Makhana is sold at ₹8,000 per kg in the international market, but farmers get only ₹400 per kg due to lack of support," he said.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

MEA reveals Dhaka letter over Didi 'refugee' remark

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA has received an official communication from Bangladesh criticising West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's statement regarding the provision of shelter to individuals affected by violence in the neighbouring country.

"I can confirm that we have received such a communication from the Bangladesh side. It aligns with the reports we have seen. I would emphasize that under Item 10 of the Union List in the Seventh Schedule of our Constitution, the conduct of foreign affairs and any matters involving relations with foreign countries fall solely under the Union government's jurisdiction," said Randhir Jaiswal, spokesperson for the Ministry of External Affairs, on Thursday.

The Bangladesh government expressed discontent following Banerjee's remarks at the Trinamool Congress rally on July 21, where she stated that her government would offer shelter to individuals from violence-hit Bangladesh "if they came knocking on our doors."

"With due respect to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, I must say that while we have excellent relations with her, her remarks have caused some confusion and there is potential for misinterpretation," said Bangladesh's Foreign Minister Hasan Mahmud, adding that the matter had been conveyed to the Indian government through a diplomatic note.

In the meantime, nearly 6,700 Indians, primarily students, have returned from Bangladesh since the recent violence disrupted daily life in the country.

Kerala cautioned against posting 'foreign secretary'

Foreign affairs and all matters that bring the Union into relation with any foreign country, are the sole prerogative of the Union government

Randhir Jaiswal, MEA spokesperson

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE Kerala government's decision to appoint a bureaucrat as Secretary for External Cooperation is beyond their constitutional jurisdiction, said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal on Thursday.

"The Constitution of India, under the 7th Schedule List I - Union List, Item 10, clearly specifies that foreign affairs and all matters, which bring the Union into relation with any foreign country, are the sole prerogative of the Union government. It is not a concurrent subject and definitely not a state subject. Our position is that state governments should not intrude in matters that are beyond their constitutional jurisdiction," said Jaiswal.

Pinarayi Vijayan, Kerala Chief Minister

On July 15, the state government had issued an order assigning secretary in the labour and skills department, the additional charge of matters linked to external cooperation.

BJP lawmaker PP Chaudhary has termed the move unconstitutional. "The Kerala government's action in issuing such an order and appointing an IAS officer as foreign secretary to handle external affairs is unconstitutional. It encroaches on subjects allocated to the Union government and the Union List," he said.

Tharoor's stand

Foreign relations are controlled by the Union, and no state has independent foreign relations. But, it is appropriate for states to manage issues of their residents abroad," said Congress MP Shashi Tharoor.

14 months after violence breaks out, Manipur CM to meet PM

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

MANIPUR Chief Minister N Biren Singh, who left for Delhi on Thursday, will have his first meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi in more than 14 months since the ethnic violence between Meitei and Kuki-Zo communities broke out on May 3 last year.

"I am visiting Delhi to attend a meeting of the NITI Aayog. It will be chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. I will attend the chief ministers' conclave in the presence of the PM," Singh said in Imphal.

"We will discuss different issues... I will have the privilege to discuss the prevailing situation (in Manipur). I will seek an immediate solution to the present crisis," he said, exuding confidence that something positive will come out.

Replying to a WhatsApp query from this newspaper if he would have a one-on-one with the PM, Singh wrote, "Sure".

Last month, over 20 NDA MLAs from Manipur visited Delhi and camped there for a few days to secure an audience with the PM to seek his intervention in restoring peace in the state. It was not known if they could meet him.

The PM has been criticised by the Opposition for not visiting Manipur even once during the conflict that left at least 219 people dead and over 60,000 others displaced. A large majority of the displaced people are still languishing in relief camps.

Meanwhile, a session of the Manipur Assembly will be held from July 31 to August 6. Singh has "personally" invited 10 Kuki-Zo legislators, including two ministers, to attend it.

"They should come and join. We will cooperate," Singh said.

Manipur has remained ethnically partitioned with people from the two communities in conflict cannot even think of visiting each other's areas. The Kukis are confined to the hills and Meiteis to Imphal valley. They have no contact whatsoever with each other.

Given the animosity and the feeling of insecurity, it is very unlikely that the Kuki-Zo legislators will attend the Assembly session. They had not attended the last two sessions.

Speaker T Satyabrata Singh said the Assembly had written to all MLAs, including the 10 from the Kuki-Zo community, to attend the session.

A weeklong Manipur Assembly session will begin from July 31. Chief Minister N Biren Singh said he has "personally" invited the 10 Kuki-Zo legislators, including two ministers, to attend it. However, given the animosity and feeling of insecurity, it is unlikely that these MLAs will attend the session. They had not attended the last two sessions either.

In line with CoWIN, govt to roll out U-WIN platform to digitise vax plan

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIA is all set to roll out the U-WIN platform to digitise every vaccination given to all pregnant women and children under the Universal Immunisation Programme (UIP).

Cloned on the model of CoWIN platform for managing Covid-19 vaccination, U-WIN will issue digital certificates for all 12 vaccinations administered under the UIP.

This newspaper first reported in April 2022 that the National Health Authority plans to launch a clone of the CoWIN platform. On Thursday, Union health secretary Apurva Chandra announced, "India is on the cusp of launching the U-WIN platform, which is modelled after the CoWIN platform."

His announcement came after a UN study said 16 lakh children did not receive critical vaccination in 2013 in India, making it the second-highest country in the world with the most number of zero-dose children. Slamming the report, India said the comparison is flawed as it paints "an incomplete picture of the country's immunisation efforts."

Chandra said the launch of U-WIN platform would lead to digitisation of health records of every child. It will make it easy for parents to seek appointments, search the nearest centre, get vaccinations and even download their e-vaccination certificate. The platform will also inform the user about their next due vaccine dose.

Chandra said, "India has the largest population of adolescents in the world. Ensuring their health, education, and empowerment is vital to achieving our development goals."

'GPS fixed in fighter aircraft for 1st time in Kargil war'

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE lack of coordination among security agencies and timely response to Pakistan army's intrusion in Kargil are still matters of serious discourse 25 years after the 'Operation Vijay'. "If everyone had been on the ball, the Kargil war would not have happened," said Air Vice Marshal Narayan Menon (Retired).

He was then Air Officer Commanding, Jammu & Kashmir and the first person from the Indian Air Force to be involved in 'Operation Safed Sagar,' or 'Operation Vijay' against Pakistan. Menon had participated as a pilot in the 1965 war and as a flight lieutenant in the 1971 war. He was conferred with the Uttam Yudh Seva Medal after the Kargil war.

Recalling the Kargil war fought between May and July 1999 in which India lost 527 soldiers and Pakistan more than 4000, the IAF veteran acknowledged that a lack of communication between the Army and Air Force initially hampered operational planning.

"If all of us (intelligence and operational agencies) had paid timely and due diligence to the enemy's audacious move inside the Indian territory, we would not have had the war," said Menon.

"The first intrusion by Pakistani soldiers came to light on May 8, 1999. IAF got its first order to go on the offensive on May 25 and the next day the first attacks were mounted. Air action was called off on July 12. The ceasefire was announced on July 26," said Menon.

"Most offensive operations were launched from Srinagar and Avantipore, and later from Adampur and Ambala. No air force in the world has fought wars at such heights, at around 20,000 feet," he added. Menon said though the Air Force softened the enemy targets for the Army during the Kargil war, boots on the ground are a must to reclaim lost territory. "It was the Indian Army, which reclaimed the posts, which the enemy had occupied in the winter of 1998 after the Army had vacated them. The 'sangars' — stone and earth structures — from where our forces were fired at would have required resources and time far greater than what the enemy possessed. It was one of the toughest and fiercest battles fought on the icy and inhospitable heights of the Himalayas," he added.

Among the lessons learnt from the Kargil war was the use of technology. "During a brainstorming session, a young flight lieutenant had come up with the idea of using the GPS as an aid to carry out high-level bombing. We bought handheld GPS gadgets and installed them in our fighter aircraft and helicopters. The aircraft were to fly at 9 km height, out of range of the missiles, and release the bombs at a predetermined GPS indicated point arrived at after having calculated for the forward trajectory of the bomb and wind pattern. It was indeed an innovative suggestion. Trials were carried out on May 29, and fighters carried out the first of these high altitude release missions the next day," recalled the decorated officer.

Due recognition for Batalik sector

In a positive development, Batalik sector was also given its due recognition during the ongoing 25th anniversary celebrations of 'Operation Vijay' at Drass. Batalik, under 70 Infantry Brigade commanded by Brigadier Devinder Singh (Retd) was cleared of Pakistani intruders on July 9 well before the close of war on July 26.

WHEN IT RAINS, IT POURS IN MAXIMUM CITY

Flight, local train services and road traffic hit in Mumbai ● Pune gets 3rd highest rainfall since 1989

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

HEAVY rains crippled several parts of Mumbai and Pune where at least four persons died in rain-related incidents on Thursday. In the last 24 hours, Pune city received 114.1 mm rainfall that is the third-highest for July since 1989 that caused heavy flooding in several localities.

In Mumbai, 11 flights were cancelled and 10 diverted to nearby airports on Thursday as heavy rains continued to lash the city. Runway operations at the Mumbai airport had to be halted twice as the visibility dropped to 300 metres, even as airlines issued advisories to passengers to arrive early at the airport in view of traffic congestion and waterlogging in parts of the metropolis.

"Runway operations were first halted for 11 minutes from 8.32 am to 8.43 am, and then again for 19 minutes from 10.36 am to 10.55 am due to adverse weather and low visibility, which dropped to 300 metres and Runway Visual Range (RVR) at 500 metres with heavy rains," said an airport source.

Heavy rains led to waterlogging on roads in some areas that led to traffic snarls and also delayed local train operations. At least 94 people have died and 145 injured in various parts of Maharashtra since the onset of the monsoon.

The state has called the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) and Indian Army to rescue the stranded people. The IT city's drinking water supply source, the Khadakwasla dam, started overflowing. The authorities released excess water into Mutha river that caused heavy flooding in many areas.

Flashflood in Himachal, Manali-Leh highway closed after bridge collapse

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Manali-Leh highway (NH-3) that links Manali in Himachal Pradesh to Ladakh was closed after a bailey bridge at Palchan in Kullu district was damaged after a flashflood. Two houses were also washed away in the heavy rain.

The sudden incessant rain was triggered in the Anjani Mahadev rivulet and Aakhri Nullah after a cloudburst in the upper reaches of Manali town late Wednesday night.

Sources said debris at a snow gallery near Palchan bridge forced the highway closure. A portion of a powerhouse was also damaged. Villagers of Palchan, Ruad and Kulang had a narrow escape as they vacated their houses in time. A swathe of farmland was destroyed due to the debris.

A villager said the residents woke up in the middle of the night after a thundering sound. "Most people abandoned their houses and left for safer places," he said.

Locals staying along the Aakhri Nulluh and Anjani Mahadev rivulet alerted residents of Palchan and Patlikhul over mobile phones, saving lives.

In an advisory, the Lahaul & Spiti police have requested commuters to travel only if necessary. Vehicles headed to Manali from Lahaul and Spiti via the north portal of the Atal tunnel have been diverted towards Rohtang.

Heavy rains in Bundelkhand & Mahakoshal

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

HEAVY rains and flash floods have forced around 2,000 people to move to safer places in parts of Bundelkhand and Mahakoshal/Vindhya region of Madhya Pradesh, particularly Katni district.

Around 1,700 people have been shifted to safer places by rescue teams, including SDERF and NDRF teams in Katni district of Mahakoshal/Vindhya region. According to Katni district's joint collector Sanskriti Sharma, around 1,700 people from various rain and flash flood villages have been shifted to eight relief camps. The number is likely to rise further, as the rain hasn't stopped.

The process of estimating the number of badly hit villages across the district is underway.

The visuals of Sleemanabad Road railway station showing trackmen and other railway employees guiding a slow moving passenger train on the submerged tracks, narrated the situation of rain and associated water inundation in the district.

The state BJP president and second-time MP from Khajuraho seat (Katni district is part of Khajuraho constituency) also informed that the situation is grim in areas falling under Dhimar Khera tehsil of Katni district.

BJP rumblings over favour to turncoats

Two days after he threatened to quit as minister and added that his Lok Sabha member wife too would resign over the loss of his key ministerial portfolio to ex-Congress veteran Ramnivas Rawat, the first-time cabinet minister Nagarsingh Chouhan went silent on the issue following meeting with top BJP leaders of the state. But the development gave voice to the pain of at least one senior BJP leader, third-time MLA and ex-minister Ajay Vishnoi, who summed it up with a one-liner, "Turncoats are fortunate that they are becoming ministers, while senior and committed party leaders are being ignored."

Special policy to promote rearing of cows

Celebrating the year 2024-25 as Cow Protection Year, the state government is working on a special policy to promote rearing of cows across the state. It has been decided to give subsidies to each of those farmers who rear more than 10 cows. Announcing this at a recent seminar in Bhopal, Chief Minister Dr Mohan Yadav said that funds will be provided by the government for rearing old, unhealthy, disabled and destitute cattle. Along with it, the government is planning to introduce a system of providing bonus to dairy farmers on milk on the lines of agricultural crops.

Second-time BJP MP gets threat to his life

Mahendra Solanki, the former judge and second-time sitting BJP MP from Dewas-Shajapur SC seat of western Madhya Pradesh, has received life threat from an unidentified caller recently. In his complaint with the Dewas district police, the MP alleged that the caller threatened to kill him for making and posting videos on nationalism and Hindutva. The primary police probe into the complaint has revealed that the call emanated from Kanpur in UP, but concerned cell-number is now switched off. Solanki had won his maiden LS polls in 2019 by 3.72 lakh votes and the margin swelled 4.2 lakh votes in the 2024 polls.

BJP announces new party chiefs for Bihar, Rajasthan

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & RAJESH ASNANI @New Delhi/Jaipur

IN an organisational rejig, BJP chief JP Nadda on Thursday appointment new party chiefs in Bihar and Rajasthan and prabhari (in-charge) and 'sahprabhari' (co-incharge) in many states, including Rajasthan and Tamil Nadu.

According to an official notification, Dileep Jaiswal, an MLC and minister in Bihar government, was appointed the new president of Bihar BJP, replacing Samrat Chaudhary. Madan Rathore was appointed new president of Rajasthan BJP with immediate effect. Madan Rathore, a Rajya Sabha MP, is considered a strategist. Jaiswal's appointment as Bihar BJP chief will bear good impact on the vote bank of the EBC ahead of the assembly polls in 2025.

The BJP has appointed in-charge in Rajasthan, Lakhshadweep, Chandigarh, Tamil Nadu, Tripura and Assam. Co-incharges have been appointed for Rajasthan and Tamil Nadu units also.

Rathore's appointment as Rajasthan unit chief comes over a month after BJP's below-par performance in the state. Earlier in the day, CP Joshi offered to resign as the state party chief.

Joshi, who has been in Delhi for the past four days, held meetings with Amit Shah and Nadda. Sources said Joshi had expressed his intention to step down immediately after the Lok Sabha results were announced. The BJP managed to secure only 14 out of 25 seats, though the saffron party made a clean sweep in the desert state in the previous two Lok Sabha elections.

"CP Joshi's resignation came amid speculation that the BJP leadership is dissatisfied with the party's performance in the Lok Sabha elections," a senior party leader said.

Some analysts suggest that this move could be linked to the party's strategy to maintain caste equilibrium. Currently, besides CP Joshi, Rajasthan Chief Minister Bhajan Lal Sharma and Chief Secretary Sudhanshu Pant belong to the Brahmin community. To ensure caste balance ahead of five crucial assembly by-elections that are round the corner, there is a buzz that a leader from the OBC or SC category might be considered for the state president's post to mobilise a broader voter base.

Raj says no ties with BJP, to go it alone in Maha elections

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

RAJ Thackeray-led MNS, which was part of the BJP-led Mahayuti during the Lok Sabha elections, has decided to contest 225 to 230 seats independently in Maharashtra assembly elections scheduled in October. "Don't think about whether alliance would happen or not...we would contest 225 to 230 seats on our own strength," Raj said while addressing his party workers in Mumbai on Thursday. The Maharashtra Assembly comprises 288 seats.

He said the assembly elections will be a "very close and fierce contest", so party ticket will be given to those who will win the polls. "Winnability will be the only criteria while allocating the party ticket. We will not give ticket to those who sell it and make money. Our workers should work hard to get more people elected to the assembly. People may laugh at you, but we have to show our sincerity during the elections," Raj said.

"Our focus should be strengthening the party at the grass-root level. I was told that some people want to leave the party. They are free to do this. In fact, I will lay down the red carpet for such people," the MNS chief said, adding that he would tour the state from August 1 and meet party workers and leaders.

He criticised the Eknath Shinde government for giving attention to issues that are not important and ignoring major problems related to health, road, water and education.

"State government has announced ₹1500 for poor women under the Ladli Behna scheme, but here we do not have money to repair roads and fill the potholes. This will be the main agenda of our election campaign," Raj said.

MNS had demanded two Lok Sabha seats while backing Mahayuti but was not given any. Sources said that after poor show in the Lok Sabha elections, the morale of BJP leaders and workers is down in Maharashtra. "If Raj Thackeray is not with BJP, then it will struggle in Mumbai and metropolitan region to get the Marathi votes. This is the time BJP needs an ally. Hence even losing a small ally will make its path difficult in state assembly polls," said a political observer.

Speaker terms defection as 'unlawful', 2 J'khand MLAs lose Assembly membership

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

LOBIN Hembrom, the MLA from Borio representing JMM, and Jai Prakash Bhai Patel, MLA from Mandu with BJP, have been stripped of their Assembly memberships by the Speaker's Tribunal following a verdict in a defection case against them. The order will take effect from July 26. Amar Kumar Bauri, the BJP leader of Opposition in the Jharkhand Assembly, and JMM Chief Shibu Soren had filed complaints against Patel and Hembrom respectively, invoking the anti-defection law.

Patel had contested the Lok Sabha elections on a Congress ticket without resigning from his Assembly seat, while Hembrom ran independently against the JMM candidate in the Lok Sabha polls.

Bauri filed a complaint with the Assembly Speaker's Tribunal regarding Patel's defection.

Advocate Vinod Kumar Sahu, representing Bauri, argued that Patel's switch of party allegiance without resigning from the Assembly warranted cancellation of his membership. Similarly, Advocate Ankitesh Kumar Jha, on behalf of Soren, contended that Hembrom contesting against the JMM candidate in the Lok Sabha elections constituted anti-party activities deserving termination of his membership. In defence, Hembrom cited his expulsion from the party and claimed the action taken against him by the party president wasn't appropriate. However, as per JMM's bylaws, the order needed approval in the Central Committee meeting within four months, which did not occur.

I had to speak up against hate in our system, says Sasikanth Senthil

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

WHEN IAS officer-turned-MP Sasikanth Senthil took oath as MP in Parliament, he added, "Stop the shameful attack on minorities, Dalits and adivasis."

Asked what he was thinking of when he said these words, Senthil said, "The thought that came to me was about our freedom fighter and martyr Bhagat Singh, who threw bombs. I was thinking that here I am, I don't have any bombs, I just have to open my mouth and speak. I said very clearly that we have to stop shameful atrocities against minorities, Dalits and adivasis."

He said he is ashamed of many things. "I'm very ashamed about the kind of politics that one party is doing. The party has brought in such politics as its core ideology, and tries to pitch people against people. It is absolutely unnecessary to win an election that way. Fundamentally, this kind of politics spoils the social fabric," said Senthil.

Sasikanth Senthil resigned as IAS officer, repulsed by communal politics. Asked how he proposes to neutralize the hate injected into the political system, he said, "It is not so much hate but fear. One has to work ten times harder with love to overcome the toxic fear injected into the system. Opposition leader Rahul Gandhi spoke about this in his maiden speech."

Claiming that fear and hate are manipulative and influence human behaviour, Senthil said the Congress has worked to neutralize fear and hate and instill happiness, love and affection. "The strategy of Rahul Gandhi has been to reach out to people and help them overcome fear and hate. We are not narrative creators, we simply walk with people, and that was the idea of Bharat Jodo Yatra. Rahul is meeting every section of society, working with them and giving them hope."

On his massive victory in the recent parliamentary polls -- he won by a massive 5.72 lakh margin, one of the highest leads -- Senthil is being compared to Congress veteran Kamaraj. "I am too new and small, I am still taking baby steps. Kamaraj was a political giant."

He said he would like to see more youngsters in mainstream politics. Asked if he had expected to join politics when he quit the IAS, he said he did not have the remotest idea he would join politics then." He also claimed that every party has its ups and downs and the Congress is already reviving.

India rebuffs US criticism on Modi's Russia visit

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

INDIA on Thursday rejected the concerns raised by the US over Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent meeting with Russian President Vladimir Putin in Moscow, asserting that all countries have the "freedom of choice" in a multipolar world and everyone should be mindful of such realities.

"India has a long-standing relationship with Russia that is based on mutuality of interests," said Randhir Jaiswal, spokesperson, Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), during his weekly media briefing in New Delhi on Thursday. The MEA spokesperson's comment was in response t to a question on US assistant secretary of state for South and Central Asia Donald Lu's recent comments on Modi's Russia trip.

During a Congressional hearing on Tuesday, Lu had criticised the timing and context of Modi's visit. "The US is seriously looking very carefully at what Modi did when he was in Moscow... We did not see any new major defence deals. We saw no major discussion of technology cooperation. In addition, you have Modi having said in front of Putin, on live television, his feeling that the war in Ukraine could not be won on the battlefield and the pain that he felt watching the death of children in war," said Lu.

The Indian PM's two-day Moscow trip early this month came at a time when Washington was hosting a summit of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation, which is supporting Ukraine in its war with Russia.

Reacting sharply to Lu's comments, Jaiswal said the thrust of the PM's visit was on the economic side of Indo-Russian ties.

Lu was the deputy chief of US mission in India from 2010 to 2013. In 2022, he faced allegations of conspiring to oust then Pakistan PM Imran Khan after the latter's Moscow trip.

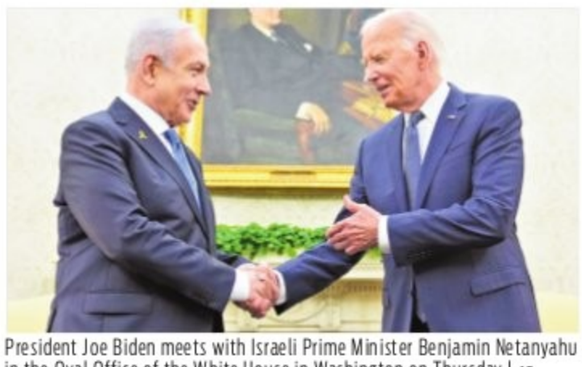
Gaza truce, hostage deal on talks table as Netanyahu meets Biden

WASHINGTON



President Joe Biden meets with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu in the Oval Office of the White House in Washington on Thursday | AP

ISRAELI Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu visited the White House on Thursday to discuss the war in Gaza with President Joe Biden and likely Democratic nominee Vice President Kamala Harris at an important moment for all three politicians.

Netanyahu's first White House visit since 2020, when former President Donald Trump was in office, comes at a time of growing pressure to find an endgame to the nine-month war that's left more than 39,000 dead in Gaza. Dozens of Israeli hostages are still languishing in Hamas captivity. Biden greeted Netanyahu in the Oval Office, where the Israeli leader thanked the president for his service. The conservative Likud Party leader Netanyahu and centrist Democrat Biden have had ups-and-downs over the years. Netanyahu, in what could be his last White House meeting with Biden, reflected on the roughly 40 years they've known each other.

"From a proud Jewish Zionist to a proud Irish American Zionist, I want to thank you for 50 years of public service and 50 years of support for the state of Israel," Netanyahu told Biden at the start of their meeting. Biden thanked Netanyahu and joked that his first meeting with an Israeli prime minister, Golda Meir, in 1973 soon after he was elected to the Senate came when he was only 12. Biden planned to use the meeting in part to press Israel and Hamas to seal a US backed proposal to release the remaining hostages in Gaza over three phases and announce ceasefire, something that would be a legacy-affirming achievement for the 81-year-old Democrat, who abandoned his reelection bid and endorsed Harris. It could also be a boon for Harris in her bid to succeed him. White House officials said the negotiations are in the closing stages but there are issues that need to be resolved.

Following their talks, Biden and Netanyahu will meet the families of American hostages.Harris, who will meet separately with Netanyahu later, is trying to demonstrate that she has the mettle to serve as commander in chief. A senior administration official on condition of anonymity said there is "no daylight between the president and vice president" on Israel.

Harris has taken part in more than 20 calls between Biden and Netanyahu. AP

MYANMAR JUNTA BLAMED FOR SHUNNING PLAN

Indonesia's foreign minister on Thursday slammed the Myanmar junta's unwillingness to engage with a regional peace plan to resolve the crisis sparked by its 2021 coup. Retno Marsudi made the remarks after meeting her Singaporean counterpart on the sidelines of an Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) foreign ministers meeting in Laos capital Vientiane. Weeks after it seized power, the junta agreed to a five-point peace plan with ASEAN that it has since ignored as it wages a crackdown on dissent and battles armed opposition to its rule. AFP

Deadly typhoon in Taiwan floods second biggest city

TAIPEI

THE strongest typhoon to hit Taiwan in eight years killed four people and flooded parts of the island's second-biggest city on Thursday, while rescuers searched for six sailors missing after their cargo ship sank in the storm.

Gaemi made landfall in Taiwan on Wednesday night with sustained wind speeds of 190 km per hour at its peak. At least four people were confirmed killed and as many as 500 were reported injured. Typhoon Gaemi transformed streets in southern Kaohsiung city into rivers, with some households flooded by rainwater.

Schools and offices were closed in several cities for a second day, with the stock market suspended and thousands of people evacuated. Gaemi also exacerbated seasonal rains in the Philippines on its path to Taiwan, triggering flooding and landslides that killed 20 people. A tanker carrying 1.4 million litres of oil sank off Manila on Thursday, with authorities racing to contain a spill. The storm had weakened by Thursday morning and "the centre has moved out to sea", Taiwan's weather authorities said.

Taiwan's fire agency said it received a report early Thursday that a cargo ship had sunk off the island's southwestern coast, forcing its nine Myanmar crew members to abandon ship in life jackets. "They fell into the sea and were floating there," said Hsiao Huan-chang, head of the fire agency.

Hsiao did not specify when the Tanzania-flagged ship sank but adverse weather conditions hindered the search. Taiwan's Coast Guard later issued a statement saying that two foreigners claiming to be crew members were brought to a police station in the late afternoon.

"They were confirmed to be the first mate and chef of the ship," the coast guard said.

Authorities expanded a shore patrol and found another sailor. "The Coast Guard will continue to expand the search for the remaining crew members who fell into the sea," it said.

In southern Taiwan's Pingtung county, an Indonesian freighter had to be anchored at a beach during the storm, with local TV footage showing massive waves crashing into it. AFP

Pension issues addressable: Fin secy

Finance secretary TV Somanathan says return to Old Pension System is not feasible

MONIKA YADAV/DIPAK MONDAL
@ New Delhi

INDIA can't afford to go back to the Old Pension System (OPS), but it is possible to address the core issues raised by government employees without being fiscally imprudent, said finance secretary TV Somanathan, who is also heading the Committee on National Pension System (NPS).

In an interaction with this newspaper, he said the committee had multiple rounds of talks with the states and staff associations, and one conclusion emerging after a lot of financial simulations and calculations with PFRDA (Pension Fund Regulatory Development Authority) is that the return to OPS is not feasible.

"I am of the opinion that the return to OPS will be financially adverse for the macroeconomic future of India," said Somanathan. He is hopeful that a middle ground can be reached and all the core issues raised by the employees can be resolved.

I am of the opinion that the return to OPS will be financially adverse for the macroeconomic future of India. Three issues (raised by employees, can be addressed in a manner that is fiscally prudent and responsible

TV Somanathan, finance secretary

As per him, the three core demands are – a pension which is not market linked; it is protected from inflation and; and a minimum assured pension for employees who have a shorter service. "These three issues, we think, can probably be addressed in a manner that is fiscally prudent and responsible and which doesn't throw burden on future generations and which can be done in a fiscally prudent manner," he said.

On the government's ambitious plan for creation of jobs and skill development, the secretary said the schemes are implementable as they would be implemented through the existing mechanism of the employee provident fund organisation.

"So, if the employer is enrolling the employee there, and if they qualify, they will fall into a subsidy system, which EPFO will implement," says Somanathan. He refuted the claims that there would be any targets for the companies to meet the number of new beneficiaries given in the budget speech. The budget expects to benefit 4.1 crore via the employee-linked scheme. He said these are just estimates and not targets.

On the internship programme, where the government plans to give internship opportunities to 1 crore youths in top 500 companies in five year, Somanathan said there would be requests from the government to the top 500 companies, but it is completely voluntary for the companies to hire interns or not.

Share buyback decision is to curb tax avoidance by HNIs

MONIKA YADAV/DIPAK MONDAL
@ New Delhi

AMID the ongoing debate regarding the taxation of share buybacks, Revenue Secretary Sanjay Malhotra has said that these transactions should be treated as dividends.

He said that a significant portion of dividends is received by the high net worth individuals (HNIs), who are subject to a tax rate of 39%. He pointed out that the current framework allowed for a situation where lower-income taxpayers, with rates of 5%, 10%, or 15%, were disproportionately shouldering the tax burden that should have been borne by HNIs.

Malhotra explained that the previous tax structure allowed companies to conduct buybacks as a means of avoiding the higher tax rates associated with dividend distributions. He stated,

"Instead of paying dividends, companies were doing buyback. This was a tax avoidance measure which has now been plugged. Previously, dividend was taxed in the hands of the company, so buyback was also taxed in the hands of companies. Similarly, now both will be taxed in the hands of recipients," added Malhotra. He said people should pay on the basis of tax slabs and there is no double taxation.

With regard to removing indexation benefits from sale of property along with reduction of tax rate to 12.5% from 20% on long-term capital gains (LTCG), He said, "It is a move for tax simplification, it is a move for removal of tax arbitrage and it is a move to slightly remove disparity in taxation on capital gains." He added, "When one house is sold and another house is purchased, if it is within ₹10 crore then there is no tax on the gains. Only for very small number of people, the effective tax rate will go up."

He said that real estate doesn't have any special dispensation, except for cases involving the sale of a house and the purchase of another house. When shifting from one locality to another, any number of houses can be sold, provided that the gains are within ₹10 crore. There is a tax only if the gains exceed ₹10 crore.

Mankind Pharma to buy out Bharat Serum from Advent for ₹13,630 crore

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

GURUGRAM-based Mankind Pharma, which is a leading player in the domestic OTC drug segment, has entered into a definitive agreement to acquire 100% stake that global investor Advent International holds in Bharat Serums and Vaccines (BSV) for an enterprise value of ₹13,630 crore, the companies said in a joint statement late Thursday evening.

This strategic deal marks a major leap for Mankind, which went public with a ₹4,326 crore IPO in April 2023, positioning it as a market leader in the domestic women's health and fertility drug market alongside access to other high entry barrier products in critical care with established complex R&D tech platforms.

Mankind has beaten the Swedish private equity firm EQT and a consortium led by the Abu Dhabi Investment Authority to buy BSV. Earlier Mankind had bid for Apax Partners-backed Healthium Medtech, a medical device maker, but KKR won the auction process in the end.

Established in 1971 by the Daftary family in Navi Mumbai, BSV develops, manufactures, and markets biological, biotech, and pharmaceutical formulations and has a manufacturing facility in Ambernath, Maharashtra and Thane along with a R&D unit at its headquarters. It has four wholly-owned subsidiaries in the US, Germany, the Philippines and India. IT companies' hiring to see positive traction in second half

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

IN the first quarter of this financial year, IT services companies showed signs of recovery in hiring compared to the previous a few quarters.

HR experts say hiring in the second half of the calendar year will see positive traction. After three quarters, Tata Consultancy Services added 5,452 employees and onboarded 11,000 trainees in the first quarter. It expects to hire about 40,000 trainees this fiscal. HCLTech added 1,078 freshers in Q1FY25, and likely to hire 10,000 freshers in FY25.

"We will continue to recalibrate our hiring for the year based on the demand outlook. We are focused on re-skilling and organically developing the required competencies among our talent base," Milind Lakkad, chief HR officer at TCS, said at the company's Q1 earnings conference.

TCS, HCLTech recruit more employees

HR experts say hiring in the second half of the calendar year will see positive traction. After 3 quarters, TCS added 5,452 employees and onboarded 11,000 trainees in Q1. It expects to hire 40,000 trainees this fiscal. HCLTech added 1,078 freshers in Q1 and likely to hire 10,000 freshers in FY25.

Infosys' headcount was down by 1,908 in the June quarter. Jayesh Sanghrajka, CFO, recently said at the media briefing that they have moved to the agile hiring base and as they start seeing growth, they will look at hiring. "We are looking at hiring 15,000 to 20,000 freshers this year, depending on how we see the growth," he said.

Experts said the IT hiring will have a major focus on attracting skilled talent and offering flexible work arrangements.

Owing to rising IT spending, an uptick in investments, growth in Global Captive Centers, and other positive factors, the talent market in the IT industry is anticipated to get back on track and provide a variety of opportunities to IT candidates, said Sachin Alug, CEO, NLB Services.

"The upward trend in IT hiring has already been noticed during the first half of 2024. We expect the momentum to gain strength by the second half of the year with an increase of about 10-12% in hiring within the sector," he added.

RBI moots tighter liquidity norms for banks' digital cash withdrawals risks

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank has issued draft guidelines, mooting a new framework to calculate banks' liquidity coverage ratios that will boost their liquidity resilience under the Basel-III framework on liquidity standards,

The central bank on Thursday proposed that, going forward, banks value their high quality liquid assets, kept in the form of government securities, at no greater than their current market rate. This value should be adjusted for applicable haircuts in line with the margin requirements under the liquidity adjustment facility and marginal standing facility, the RBI said.

Increased usage of technology has has led to a concomitant rise in risks (bank transfers), requiring proactive management

RBI statement

The statement further said it plans to implement the new framework from next April 1 and said the new norms are aimed at bolstering the liquidity resilience of lenders amid risks involved with the increased usage of technology in banking.

"While increased usage of technology has facilitated the ability to make instantaneous bank transfers and withdrawals, it has led to a concomitant rise in risks, requiring proactive management," the RBI said.

Among the proposed measures include mandating banks to assign an additional 5 percent run-off factor for retail deposits which are enabled with the Internet and mobile banking facilities. Lenders can experience "runoff" when individuals and businesses withdraw money to invest in other higher-paying investments, thereby reducing the banks' total capital.

HDFC bank offers highest interest rate of 7.4% on FD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

A week after it ruled out engaging in interest rate war to attract deposits, HDFC Bank, the largest private sector lender and the one with the highest credit-deposit ratio, has upped the ante in its war for public funds as it seeks to grow its assets faster, offering up to 7.4% for fixed deposits below ₹3 crore for 55 months.

The closest rate is 7.3% being offered by a few much smaller public sector peers while the industry leader SBI's peak offer is 7.25% per annum after the recent hike.

Earlier this month, almost all public sector banks led by SBI, BoB and PNB increased their rates for FDs and are offering between 7.05% and 7.3%. However, IndusInd Bank is offering 7.5% on reinvestment of FDs. HDFC Bank is the first major private sector lender to reopen the war for deposits in recent months and is offering 7.35% to 7.4% on FDs below ₹3 crore for 35 months and 55 months tenors, the bank said on its website and the new rates are effective immediately.

Earlier the bank had told the analysts that it will not go for the competition for deposits.

Paris Olympics sells record 9.7mn tickets

Olympics 2024 organizers said the Paris Games broke the record for the most number of tickets sold or allocated in the event's history. And yet, tickets are still available. Organizers say 9.7 million tickets were sold or allocated for this year's Olympic and Paralympic Games, with 8.7 million sold for the former and a million for the latter.

T-minus one: Inside Indian quarters at the Village

Sleep pods, selfies with Nadal, athletes taking out their recliners and chilling next to the Seine River and up close and personal with an Olympic champion. Our daily takes in the sights and sounds at the Games Village a day before the Opening Ceremony...

THERE it was, next to the Serbian and Spanish quarters a few metres away from the great USA building. The Indian flag was flying. Outside, chef de mission Gagan Narang was speaking with Indian Olympic Association (IOA) president PT Usha and deputy chef de mission Shiva Keshavan.

The medical centre is the IOA's newest baby. There are four beds in one room. "These are for recovery," says Dinshaw Pardiwala, the contingent's chief medical officer. In the next room, there are two tubs, one each for hot (warm) and cold (ice). There are other paraphernalia peppered across the room that's used in various stages of recovery.

Pardiwala says there has been a positive response to the medical centre that the IOA has set up for the first time. He says some 12 or 13 athletes visit the medical team consisting but not limited to mental wellness experts (Samir Parikh and Divya Jain), physios (Chris Pedra, Sumansh Sivalanka), a sleep therapist (Monica Sharma) and masseurs (Matto and Vijay Kamboj).

"I have not seen anything like this before," says Sreejesh, a veteran of four Olympics (including this one). And there is no anxiety oversleeping on a cardboard bed. "They seem robust," he says just outside the India house.

Sreejesh does have a kind of inhibition to sleep inside a sleeping pod. Pardiwala shows the three pods inside the room. "This helps them sleep. It aids in recovery."

Pardiwala's rationale behind it is simple. "While speaking to some of the athletes we have realised that they are not worried about high temperature or not sleeping in ACs but some of the athletes were concerned that if the temperature is not controlled or it gets a bit too cool, we might lose our sleep," he says. "So we arranged the sleeping pods which are controlled." A pillow and a speaker are also available if the athlete wishes to listen to music.

Divya Jain, the psychologist, explains about the mindfulness centre, a concept being propounded by the International Olympic Committee (IOC). The room resembles a setting from a sci-fi movie. There are VR headsets for immersive experiences that also act as a catalyst to calm the mind. There are postcards that can be written and sent to near and dear ones. "It helps athletes to focus and mindfulness can be through art or even writing," she says. "This will help you to be in the moment and writing helps you to remain connected with your near and dear ones."

Star conferences

The Games Village turns into a place where some of the greatest athletes congregate, eat, sleep and have fun. It also turns into their sacred space. This one, in Saint-Denis, is a sprawling residential complex with the Seine flowing through it.

There was a boat full of security personnel manning the river right in front of the commercial hub of the Village. The charm is the cosmopolitan nature of the complex where it doesn't discriminate between the best and the rest, like the Olympic spirit where everyone is treated the same.

Tennis legend Rafael Nadal may be in the last leg of his career but the amount of selfies he has obliged would be setting new records, just like the athlete during his playing days. The conference hall is hosting some of the greats of different sports — like Rio Games gold medallist Carolina Marin of Spain along with her coach Riva Fernandes on Thursday. She speaks about how she has changed her training methods (more mental than physical).

A few minutes later, Casper Ruud, who does have happy memories at Roland Garros, stepped inside and spoke in Norwegian about his chances. "I want to win the medal and I believe that I can take that. I did not compete in Tokyo because I did not have the belief," he said. The tennis star wanted to go to the Olympics and Paris has been on his radar. He feels the Grand Slam is bigger but the Olympics is right there and he wants to medal for Norway which will make his achievement great.

The sprawling campus

The Village, open to the media on Thursday, was buzzing. Athletes were running, some were taking a stroll or just lazing by the river on recliners.

Thursday was one such day when this daily visited the sprawling residential complex. The Village is supposed to host over 14,000 athletes and officials where up to 60,000 meals will be served. The beds, believed to be anti-sex, have already made the headlines. As promised by the organising committee, the geothermal pipes are working with temperatures outside warmer than inside the rooms.

SINDHU'S OLYMPIC COLLECTION

2016 Silver (Rio de Janeiro)

2021 Bronze (Tokyo)

IT"S the beginning of the Olympics and, like most mega events, the first few days are like treasure hunt. There would be clues to where one has to go but no clue whatsoever how to find it. The bunch of volunteers at any venue would give the broadest smile and would welcome one warmly, but even they, the custodians of various venues and centres, struggle to guide you. One must understand that they too are learning.

It was more or less like that at the badminton venue where one of the most decorated of Indian shuttlers was training. The Arena porte de la Chappelle here is some half an hour away from the Main Press Centre but the hunt begins as soon as one lands. One might get lost in the labyrinthine corridors of the newly-refurbished indoor hall. The step counter worked overtime and after quite a few back and forth sorties between venue media centre, the hall, the stands and the stadium, one finally settled down on a space in the mixed zone for an interaction with PV Sindhu. It took more time than usual to get herself a rub down by the physio and walk into the mixed zone. The wait was a bit long and Sindhu was quick to apologise. Considered a big game player, the focus is on her again. The excitement of carrying the flag was palpable and she narrated her joy with glee. "This is my third Olympics and I am really looking forward for the Olympics to start," she said, adding how happy she is to be the flagbearer. "Being the flag-bearer it is an added responsibility and also great excitement because it is an opportunity of a lifetime," she said. In fact she is a veteran when it comes to it. "I don't need to practice as I have held the flag during the Asian and Commonwealth Games," she was laughing. Sindhu had been focussing on the mental aspect of the game and has been yearning to play smart. She said she is there and everyone would see the changes she has adopted. Elaborating about the smartness in her game, she said that 'every opponent is different so one has to adapt.' "One cannot play long rallies all the time, so one has to keep changing every single time. We have been working on that. Since I am experienced, I have to engage differently and handle the situation accordingly," she said.

For Sindhu, the Olympics is the stage where she not only thrives but truly excels. Two Olympics, two medals, silver in Rio and bronze at Tokyo and the strike rate is 100. This time too she is looking forward to the Olympics with optimism and hope and hopes to add gold to the CV. "Olympics are always special for me and I am in good shape and feel well," she said giggling. "Even though it is my third Olympics, I always have a special feeling when I am playing it."

A short stint at Saarbrucken in Germany before Paris helped her chisel the rough edges, acclimatise and get ready for the gruelling schedule. The setting, she said, was perfect. "It gave a village feeling, where you live on your own, eat in a dining hall where they serve buffet," she said. She even slept inside a hypoxic chamber to boost her endurance apart from sparring with five different partners including a men's player from Nigeria and a 'German singles player'. Three were from Bengaluru, one left hand the other right-handers. Sometimes she would spar with one, sometimes with two and it all depended on the schedule the coaching team (Prakash Padukone and Vimal Kumar) was making. "Important thing was to get used to playing different players. Also the timing and the weather at Saarbrucken are similar to Paris," she said. "I was sleeping in the hypoxic chamber just for a couple days to help build endurance since I could not go for altitude training."

Speaking about the draw she said at the Olympics, one must expect a tough draw because the top players are here. "I always knew it would be difficult and prepared accordingly," she said. "2016 (Rio) was different because I was new and did have pressure while in 2021 (Tokyo 2020) there was pressure because of the medal and having responsibility on my shoulder. In 2016, there was cheering, shouting and in 2021 it was quiet. Now, it's crowded," she said.

The 29-year-old will begin her campaign on July 28 with hope and a prayer. If India needs to increase their medal tally, she needs to fire. After a short conversation it was evident that she was ready. She walked away saying "hope for the best".

IOC not adhering to charter: Rajoub

The head of the Palestine Olympic Committee criticised "double standards" from the International Olympic Committee (IOC) on Thursday over its decision to allow Israel to compete at the Paris Games. Palestinian Olympic head Jibril Rajoub demanded a boycott in a letter to the IOC earlier this week which was rejected by the head of the international Olympics body, Thomas Bach. "This confirms that there are international institutions that insist on applying double standards and not adhering to the Olympic Charter, laws and regulations, or morals," Rajoub said.

DOPING ISSUE

NO CONFIDENCE IN FAIRNESS OF SWIMMING AT GAMES: DRESSEL

AFP @ Paris

SEVEN-TIME Olympic swimming gold medallist Caeleb Dressel said on Thursday he has no confidence in the ability of authorities to ensure a fair contest in the pool at the Paris Games. Swimming has been engulfed in a doping row following revelations in April that 23 Chinese swimmers failed drugs tests ahead of the Tokyo Games in 2021 but were not sanctioned.

The World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) accepted the conclusion of Chinese officials that the case was caused by food contamination at a hotel, triggering strong criticism from the US anti-doping body USADA and several top swimmers. Asked whether he had confidence that governing bodies had created "a level-playing field", the American Dressel was succinct. "No, not really. I don't think they have given us enough evidence to support them with how this case was handled. To answer your question — no," he said. Dressel will be aiming to defend his 50m freestyle and 100m butterfly individual titles in Paris. Brent Nowicki, executive director of World Aquatics, said he was saddened to hear Dressel's views. "This entire team, entire organisation works tirelessly. Every day they go to work and pour their heart into what we do. So when you hear someone like Caeleb say that, obviously it is not what you want any athlete to say," he said.

BCCI to meet with IPL teams to meet on July 31

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

WITH the mega auction cycle coming up, the Board of Control for Cricket in India have invited the ten Indian Premier League teams for a meeting to discuss the way forward for the auction and the league on July 31 in Mumbai.

Since its inception, the IPL has seen a mega auction every three years with teams getting to retain and Right to Match (RTM) players they want. This meeting, set to happen in the new BCCI office, is to discuss how many retentions should be there and the RTM cards each team can get going forward.

The meeting that has been on the cards for a few months now will finally happen at the end of this month. And as is often the case, different teams have expressed a different number of player options depending on their team composition. There is also the topic of how frequently the mega auction should be held. According to multiple reports, some teams want as many as 5-8 retentions. In 2018, the eight teams got to keep a maximum of five players (3 retention or 3 RTMs) in the auction while in 2022, they could retain four without any RTMs.

Whether to keep the RTMs or increase the retention, it all will be discussed in detail at the meeting and the decision will be taken accordingly.

BUDGET 2024-25

BUILDING THRIVING ECOSYSTEM FOR TECH PROGRESS

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

TECHNOLOGY is emerging as the biggest strategic differentiator. The Union Budget 2024-25, presented on Tuesday, also highlighted how technology is an enabler of improving productivity. "For improving data governance, collection, processing and management of data and statistics, different sectoral data bases, including those established under the Digital India mission, will be utilised with active use of technology tools," Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said in her Budget speech.

Emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence, machine learning and blockchain, among others, should be focus areas, the Economic Survey, tabled in Parliament on Monday, stated. It pointed out that the world is in the midst of a fourth industrial revolution characterised by novel ways in which technology is becoming embedded within societies through 'cyber-physical systems,' Internet of Things, big data, nano-technology, and networks. "Evolving forms of machine learning, AI, blockchains, genetic engineering, quantum computing, advanced analytics, automation, and advanced manufacturing technology are some examples of what constitutes this technological revolution," it added.

AI is being used across sectors and the Budget also brings some promising developments for the technology sector. The World Economic Forum's report highlights an increasing focus on cognitive abilities, digital literacy, and proficiency in AI and big data. "This shift underscores the strategic imperative for businesses and the workforce to adapt to technological advancements and meet global market demands. Focus areas should include blockchain, AI, machine learning, Internet of Things, cybersecurity, cloud computing, big data analytics, augmented reality, virtual reality, 3D printing, and web and mobile development," said the Economic Survey.

Pinkesh Kotecha, MD & chairman of Ishan Technologies, said the government's commitment to enhancing data governance will help boost data centres and undoubtedly support the rising data-intensive needs of our country. Moreover, the focus on increasing FDI will spur investments in technology innovations, furthering India's growth as a tech hub.

Interestingly, the Economic Survey 2023-24 also points out how the advent of AI casts a huge pall of uncertainty as to its impact on workers across all skill levels - low, semi and high. The Survey highlights a Staff Discussion Note of the International Monetary Fund published in June 2024 about how Gen AI raised profound concerns about massive labour disruptions and inequality.

The tech industry is undergoing a transformative phase and there has been a major focus on digital infrastructure, AI and cybersecurity. However, there is also a growing need to study the social impact of technologies such as AI. "Its (technology) productivity-enhancing potential is beyond doubt, but the social impact of emerging technologies such as AI via labour market disruptions and labour displacement is barely understood. It also has the potential to skew the capital and labour shares of income in favour of the former," the Survey stated.

Google Maps introduces new features tailored for India

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

GOOGLE Maps has unveiled several new features in India aimed at enhancing travel efficiency and sustainability, leveraging AI and local partnerships.

AI-powered navigation for four-wheeler drivers

Navigating narrow or congested roads poses challenges for four-wheeler drivers. To mitigate this, Google is introducing a new feature in Google Maps for India. This feature employs AI to estimate road widths, utilising satellite imagery, Street View, and other data to determine the feasibility of navigating through these roads. Google aims to help drivers avoid narrow roads without significantly affecting travel time or distance. This feature will debut on Android devices in eight cities initially.

Navigating flyovers made easy

Recognising the prevalence of flyovers in Indian cities, Google Maps now includes a feature to highlight flyovers along recommended routes. This enhancement enables users to anticipate upcoming flyovers and adjust their routes.

Supporting EV journeys

In a bid to support electric vehicle (EV) drivers, Google Maps is integrating detailed information about EV charging stations across India. Collaborating with key providers such as ElectricPe, Ather, Kazam, and Statiq, Google Maps will display real-time information about over 8,000 charging stations.

Metro ticket bookings

Public transportation is pivotal in India, and Google Maps is enhancing the metro travel experience through a partnership with ONDC and Namma Yatri.

SAP to help boost supply chain through digital technologies

SAP has recently unveiled a study, in association with Economist Impact, citing technology enablement and sustainability as the top two priorities to help create resilient and sustainable supply chains. Digitalisation remains the topmost priority for businesses, aligning with India's vision to create reliable and efficient global supply chains through the use of digital technologies, SAP said. Digitalisation, as the top priority is being partly influenced by advances in automation technology, AI, and Gen AI, the top technology trend businesses, are looking to implement over the next 12 to 18 months. The study says legislation and compliance requirements are exerting pressures on businesses. Manish Prasad, President & MD, SAP Indian Subcontinent, said, "To expedite India's ambitious vision of being among the top supply chain hubs, it is crucial to integrate technologies like business network platforms and local data centres underpinned by Cloud and AI"

Threat actors use ghost accounts on GitHub to access sensitive information

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH the cybercrime landscape constantly evolving, threat actors are also finding new sophisticated ways to infect victims, get access to sensitive information, and cause harm. In its latest blog post, Check Point Research explains how the Stargazers Ghost Network, a sophisticated operation of ghost accounts on Microsoft-owned GitHub, is distributing malware through phishing repositories. This is the first time such an operation has been identified on the GitHub platform.

GitHub is commonly used to host open-source software development projects. It is also the world's largest source code host with over 100 million developers, more than 420 million repositories, and 14 million visitors per day. It is on this platform that the Stargazers Ghost Network was found to be distributing malware and malicious links through phishing repositories of fake accounts.

What is alarming that such type of operation, where fake accounts are instrumented to organically perform phishing attacks to distribute malware, has never been seen before. The sophistication of this network lies in its ability to make malicious repositories appear legitimate through actions like starring (liking), forking (retweeting), and subscribing.

Check Point reveals that those repositories use phishing templates and tags that are highly victim-oriented, targeting users with various interests in social media, gaming, cryptocurrency, and many others. Such types of operations can create a significant impact as they are heavily victim-oriented, making infections of such victims even more severe with victims facing threats such as Ransomware infections to stolen credentials and compromised cryptocurrency wallets.

Those GitHub repositories currently target mainly Windows users, though similar malware distribution methods can be used to target Linux or Android users, all of whom also have large user databases, marking a greater impact on the community, it added.

Recently, crypto exchange WazirX suffered a security breach as $234.9 million of funds have been moved to a new address. One of its multi-sig wallets experienced the breach. Crypto exchanges have now become a major target for hackers.

NEED FOR VIGILANCE

Check Point advises users of GitHub to be wary of links leading to GitHub and repositories that provide download links containing executables. Even reputable repositories could distribute malware as it observed some of them being infected with malicious download links.
